FIFTH CONGRESS ACTION

[From Our Own Correspondent]

Canton, Yesterday.
The Chinese Fascist Party,
known as the "Blue Shirts," which is said to be fostered by General Chiang Kai-shek, with the cadets and graduates of the Central Military Academy as members, will be given a legal status by the coming Fifth National Congress of the Kuomint-tang, according to a semi-official report received here.

It is reported that the "Blue Shirts" will eliminate the Reorganisation Party led by Mr.
Wang Ching-wei, President of the Executive Yuan, and the so-called Prince Clique, headed by Mr. Sun Fo, President of the Legislative Yuan. Mr. Sun is said to be disgusted with the National Government, as his aspiration to the Ministry of Railways and the Presidency of the Executive Yuan cannot be fulfilled.

The "Blue Shirt" Party is at present a secret organisation.
Whenever its members are caught, in Canton, Tsinan, or Taiwan, they are arrested as seditionists and summarily punished as such.

U.S. PRESS INTERPRETATION JOURNALISTS ACCOUNT FOR DR. GOEBBELS TYRANNOUS RULE CANNOT BE ESTABLISHED

RECENT ATTACK
UNJUSTIFIED.

PUBLIC BEST JUDGES

Berlin, Yesterday.
A resolution, passed by the Foreign Press Association here by 55 votes to 5, declares that the answer to the recent outburst against correspondents of foreign newspapers in Germany
by the Reich Minister of Propaganda, Dr. Joseph Goebbels, has already been given by world public opinion.

The resolution states that foreign correspondents have always endeavoured to do justice to truth, and that one of the prerequisite conditions of such an endeavour consists of the provision of correct, dependable, and rapid information.

In his attack, Dr. Goebbels described the foreign despatches of the June 30 incidents as "the worst kind of gunman journalism." With few exceptions, he said, the foreign press had got into "a delirium of malicious provocation and hysterical abuse."

He warned that the German Government would not tolerate the presence of foreign correspondents who stirred people against people and rendered honest, unprejudiced international relations impossible.—

PROTEST TO BERLIN BY AMERICA.

Safeguarding Holders
Of Loan Bonds.

Berlin, Yesterday.

The United States Government is strongly protesting to the German Government against discriminatory treatment of American holders of Dawes and Young loan bonds.

Instructions to this effect have been sent to Berlin by the Secretary of State, Mr. William Cordell Hull.—Reuter.

GERMANY WILL BE INDEPENDENT, DECLARES HITLER

Economics And Politics
Under Review.

"GENIUS OF OUR INVENTORS"

SPECIAL TO SUNDAY HERALD.
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages, Ordinances, 1924, Received July 13, 8.47 a.m.)

New York, Yesterday.
Reviewing economics and politics in the Reichstag, yesterday,
chancellor Adolf Hitler declared:
"If foreign markets are closed to us by tariff or boycott, the genius of our inventors will make us independents."

A similar announcement was made recently by a member of the German Cabinet, who announced that in the event of foreign complications Germany was prepared to manufacture her own raw materials necessary for industry.—

HITLERIZED GERMANY THREAT TO CIVILISATION

HAUGHTY GOERING

NEW YORK, YESTERDAY.

INSTEAD OF ARBITRARILY COM-MANDING OBEDIENCE, CHANCELLOR HIT-LER NOW ALMOST HUMBLLY SEEKS PO-PULAR SUPPORT, DECLARES THE "NEW YORK TIMES" IN A LEADING ARTICLE ON THE CHANCELLOR'S REICHSTAG SPEECH.
ONLY GENERAL GOERING MAINTAINS HIS FORMER HAUGHTY TONE, THE JOURNAL ADDS.

The latter's statement that Chancellor Hitler's will is the only law in Germany recalls the "hoc volo sic jubeo" of the ex-Kaiser. Fortunately, there are signs that such tyrannous rule cannot be established in Germany in the name of Hitler.

The "Herald Tribune" declares that millions of intelligent Americans and Europeans who have come to believe that Hitlerism is a menace to peace in Europe, that it is barbarising Germany and that a Hitlerized Germany is a standing threat to civilization, will be confirmed in that feeling.

THEY WILL VIEW THE SPEECH AS A TERRIFYING DOCUMENT
BECAUSE IT SO MANIFESTLY SINCERE.

HITLER'S STORY OF REVOLT.

Why 77 Were Shot.

Berlin, Yesterday.

Chancellor Adolf Hitler, in a speech in the Reichstag yesterday, vigorously defended the work of the Nazi Government.
He declared that it had rescued
Germany from collapse and had achieved the political unity of the Reich and the people.

Referring to the revolt, he mentioned that 77 were dead, including 19 high Storm Troop leaders, 31 ordinary Storm Troopers and three Black Uniform leaders.

All were shot. Also, 13 Storm Troop leaders and civilians were shot while resisting arrest, while three committed suicide.

Furthermore, five members of the Nazi party who were not Storm Troopers, and three Black Uniform men who were guilty of disgraceful manhandling of prisoners were also shot.

TRAGIC WARNING MEMORY

Chancellor Hitler said that the events of which the Reichstag had been called to hear an account would live in the German history
as a tragic warning memory.

The crisis, born from a number of causes, including personal guilt and human defects, might easily have had destructive consequences for a long time.

"I never let myself be troubled about my own life or fate, but I am heavily burdened with cares which weigh down the present and future of our people," he declared.

JEWS CONDEMNED

He denounced the "small cli-que of international intriguers and apostles of Communism who had deliberately tried to produce chaos in Germany."

He added that a few of "these fools and criminals" were still trying to carry out their work of destruction, but an overwhelming majority of German workers had seen through these Jewish international benefactors of human-

GERMAN DOUBTS OVERHEARD.

Berlin, Yesterday.

Alongside the unanimous lyricism of the German press it is possible to overhear doubts from the man in the street as to whether Chancellor Hitler's speech will completely reassure all the grumblers and carpers.

Scepticism is likewise voiced as to whether Chancellor Hitler's reassurances are likely to satisfy the Storm Troopers dismissed through reorganisation.

The Chancellor's references to the Nazi ill-treatment of prisoners and other known abuses is widely commented upon.

The public had hoped to learn the names of the executed men but Reuter is officially informed that these will be withheld.

Meanwhile, Bavaria has banned
the London Evening Standard, the Paris Intransigent and the Paris Soir until July 26 for alleged indiscretions.—Reuter.

No Foreign Policy Reference.

Paris, Yesterday.

The absence of reference to foreign policy in Chancellor Hitler's speech is regarded as significant.

It is believed that the Chancelor deleted important passages relating to foreign countries in consequence of the diplomatic situation created by Sir John Simon's speech, yesterday, which wins the heartiest approval of the French press.—Reuter.

Italy Shocked By Death Roll.

Rome, Yesterday.

The Italian newspapers do not comment on Chancellor Hitler's speech.

It is officially pointed out that the speech is solely concerned with internal affairs in which Germany must judge for herself.

The people, however, are apparently shocked by the large number of executed officials.—Reuter.

100 BANDITS KILLED IN SKIRMISH

Fierce Action In Kiangsi.

TROOPS ENGAGE 4,000

Canton, Yesterday.

A band of some 4,000 remnant Communist-bandits took part in fierce battle with volunteers and Kwangtung troops at Pan-kong,
north of Tuenmenling, Kiangsi, on July 3. It is reported by the Kwangtung 3rd Army Corps.

Taking advantage of the incen-
erent weather, the bandits
skirted Pan-kong in a desperate attempt to create disturbances in that region. The corps or volunteers stationed there under the command of General Ai-yang
Kong put up a fight against them.
Later, a battalion of troops of the Kwangtung 3rd Army Corps arrived. The volunteers and the troops then jointly besieged the bandits.

ANOTHER OUTRAGE NEAR MIENPO

Harbin, Yesterday.

Bandits, after they had destroyed the track, wrecked and furnished a westward bound freight 30 miles to the west of Mienpo, killing 20 of the train crew and injuring three others as the wagons
amashed.

The bandits then raided and pillaged Lidahotze where they amashed the telegraph and telephone instruments, and kidnapped four of the Chinese Eastern Railway employees.—

TILDEN IN TROUBLE SUSPENDED BY U.S.P.L.T.A. SEQUEL TO ALOOF ATTITUDE.

New York, To-day.

"Big Bill" Tilden has been suspended by the Professional Lawn Tennis Association of America for his failure and refusal to render financial accounting and to produce records of certain tournaments in which he has competed this year.

He is liable to a fine of $100 in respect of each competition in which he participates until the suspension is lifted.—Reuter.

Tilden, who made a sensational comeback at Wimbledon in 1930 when he won the title from Henri Cochet after having previously won it in 1920 and 1921, turned professional in that year, following in the footsteps of Vincent Richards, another American player. Tilden then commenced his “circuit,” which now includes Henri Cochet, twice Wimbledon champion, Martin Pina, also of France, and Ellsworth Vines, youthful Californian ace who won the Wimbledon crown in 1932 at his first attempt.

Last Saturday it was reported that Fred Perry, new world champion, had been offered $25,000 for a four months contract with the “circuit.”

SHORT STORY.

HOUNDS OF FATE

By "SAKI."

IN the fading light of a close fire lit in your room, Master Tom, and the mounds had put fresh sheets on to the bed. You'll find nought changed up there. Maybe you're tired and would like to go there now.

Without a word Martin Stoner rose heavily to his feet and followed his ministering angel along a passage, up a short creaking stair, along another passage, and into a large room lit with a cheerfully blazing fire. There was but little furniture, plain, old-fashioned, and good of its kind; a stuffed squirrel in a case, and a wall-calendar of four years ago were about the only symptoms of decoration. But Stoner had eyes for little else than the bed, and could scarce wait to tear his clothes off him before rolling in a luxury of weariness into its comfortable depths. The hounds of Fate seemed to have checked for a brief moment.

In the cold light of morning Stoner laughed mirthlessly as he slowly realised the position in which he found himself. Perhaps he might snatch a bit of breakfast on the strength of his likeness to this other missing ne'er-do-well, and get safely away before anyone discovered the fraud that had been thrust on him. In the room downstairs he found the bent old man ready with a dish of bacon and fried eggs for "Master Tom's" breakfast, while a hard-faced elderly maid brought in a teapot and poured him out a cup of tea. As he sat at the table a small spaniel came up and made friendly advances.

"Tis old Bowker's pup," explained the old man, whom the hard-faced maid had addressed as George. "She was main fond of you; never seemed the same after you went away to Australia. She died 'bout a year ago. 'Tis her pup."

"You'll go for a ride, Master Tom?" was the next startling proposition that came from the old man. "We've a nice little roan cob that goes well in saddle. Old Biddy is getting a bit up in years, though 'er goes well still, but I'll have the little roan saddled and brought round to door."

"I've got no riding things," stammered the castaway.

"Master Tom," said the old man earnestly, almost with an offended air, "all your things is just as you left them. A bit of airing before the fire 'an' they'll be all right. 'Twill be a bit of a distraction like, a little riding and wild-fowling now and agen. You'll find the folk around here has hard and bitter minds towards you. They hasn't forgotten nor forgiven."

Old George hobbled away to give his orders, and Stoner, feeling more than ever like one in a dream, went upstairs to inspect "Master Tom's" wardrobe.

A ride was one of the pleasures dearest to his heart, and there was some protection against immediate discovery of his imposture in the thought that none of Tom's afore-time companions were likely to favour him with a close inspection. As the interloper thrust himself into some tolerably well-fitting riding cords he wondered vaguely what manner of misdeed the genuine Tom had committed to set the whole countryside against him. The thud of quick, eager hoofs on damp earth cut short his speculations. The roan cob had been brought up to the side door.

"Talk of beggars on horseback," thought Stoner to himself, as he trotted rapidly along the muddy lanes where he had tramped yesterday as a down-at-heel outcast; and then he flung reflection indolently aside and gave himself up to the pleasure of a smart canter along the turf-grown side of a level stretch of road. At an open gateway he checked his pace to allow two carts to turn into a field. The lads driving the carts found time to give him a prolonged stare, and as he passed on he heard an excited voice call out, "Tis Tom Prikel I knowed him at once; showing hisself here agen, is he?"

In the course of his ride he met with ample evidence to confirm the statement that local folk had neither forgotten nor forgiven the bygone crime which had come to him as a legacy from the absent Tom. Scowling looks, mutterings, and nudgings greeted him whenever he chanced upon human beings.

The old man placed a mug of beer on the table in front of Stoner and then hobbled away down a long passage. The drizzle of rain had changed to a furious lashing downpour which beat violently against door and windows.

As the minutes ticked by on the grandfather clock in the corner a new hope began to flicker and grow in the young man's mind; it was more the expansion of his former craving for food and a few minutes' rest into a longing to find a night's shelter under this seemingly hospitable roof. A clattering of footsteps down the passage heralded the old farm servant's return.

"The old missus won't see you, Master Tom, but she says you are to stay. 'Tis right enough, seeing the farm will be yours when she be put under 'earth. I've had a

Exercise For The Skin

Prevents Spots And Blemishes.

ASTRINGENT LOTIONS BENEFICIAL

THE skin needs exercise, and lots of it. If it does not have it, the resulting sluggishness will bring about all sorts of blemishes.

Exercise can be supplied by systematic massage and by patting.

Massage in your nourishing cream, and also your foundation cream; pat in your astringent lotion with a cotton wool pad. And when you are drying your face after washing, it should never be rubbed with a towel; it should always be patted.

Massage and patting movements should always be in an upward direction.

Your skin should never be "rubbed"; rubbing stretches it, and stretching is one of the worst things for causing lines.

Get into the habit of using a mild astringent, as this is another important method of exercising the skin. An astringent is a stimulant, and is usually in the form of a lotion of some sort.

The best times to use the astringent are first thing in the morning, and at night after you have massaged with your nourishing cream. An astringent closes up the pores and helps to keep away pore secretions which one's skin is better without.

Faded Colours Revived.

FADED colours in rugs and carpets can be freshened by sponging with water, to which ammonia has been added in the proportion of one teaspoonful to one quart of water.

WINE STAINS RUIN DELICATE GOWNS

Simple Method of Removal.

DELICATE evening frocks are sometimes permanently disfigured by wine stains if the stains are not treated as soon as possible after they are incurred.

If treated at once all trace of a wine stain can usually be removed. Hot milk is one of the best mediums for removing wine stains of all kinds. The stain should be soaked in the milk until it becomes faint and then be washed out. If the material cannot be treated in this way the stain should be dabbed with salt and lemon juice and then sponged with clear water.

Oatmeal Face Pack

To Revive Tired Skin.

BENEFICIAL THIS SEASON

WHEN the skin is tired and wants toning up—try giving it a stimulating treatment. The easiest way to give it is in the form of a mask.

Cleanse the skin in the usual way; then massage in your usual nourishing cream, using an upward movement. After you have massaged for about five minutes, with the tips of your fingers pat the skin till it tingles—always pat upwards, of course.

Your mask is made of powdered oatmeal mixed with some hydrogen peroxide and thinned out with some milk. Spread this over the skin and leave it to dry—it will work best if you can completely relax when you are doing so.

When it is dry, bathe the face with warm water and pat it to remove all moisture afterwards.

or Try this—

Or you can use this mask, which is also very good.

Beat up a good teaspoonful of Oil of Sweet Almonds with the yolk of an egg. After the face has been thoroughly cleansed, spread it on (you don't need a nourishing cream massage immediately before this treatment) and leave it to dry.

Remove it with cotton wool pads soaked in warm water; pat your skin dry, and afterwards apply a mild astringent lotion.

At this season it is advisable to have, and to use now and then, a special cream which soothes as well as nourishes—a sort of balm cream, in other words.

Envy Of Old Styles

Hoops Not Adapted To Modern Wear.

UNSUITABLE FOR DINNER DANCES

Paris.

IT is the darling application of the familiar in a unique manner which casts the spell of glamour over the wardrobe.

To all and sundry, the exquisite charm of hooped skirts have occasioned a sigh of envy on all but one score—the size of the hoop in relation to the evolutions of the modern dinner dance.

Many a woman has gazed with admiration and with envy at the picture of a hoop-skirted miss floating rapturously to the strains of a waltz. The great, billowy skirt, the slim supple waist, so much slimmer it appears above the vast skirt, is such a silent commentary on the modern, athletic girl of to-day's debutante—that is to the debutante who has not discovered how to gauge calories.

Not For Moderns

However, hosts of modern dames of fashion have been content to observe the loveliness and to concede the flattery the style related, but to discard both with the comment, "But my dear—can you imagine sitting down in one of the beastly things!"

Most women couldn't. A shake of the head, a regretful, jealous glance back through the decades, and the modern dame of fashion discarded a dream.

REINFORCING SHIRT FRONTS

WHEN shirts require a new neck-band, cut nice large fronts of similar material and put the front piece in when repairing.

Shirts wear out next to the collar, so this will give a new lease of life to the shirt under repair.

It's time for Tea!

what will you serve to-day?

WHEN GUESTS drop in for tea, are they always sure of finding something new — unusual — or have you formed the habit of offering them the same thing, over and over.

And why don't you send for your free copy of the Royal Cook Book (published in both English and Chinese) and plan some interesting surprises? You will need a big can of Royal Baking Powder, too, to insure perfect baking success.

Baking powder may form a small part of your ingredients, but it is responsible for a large part of the results. Cheap, inferior brands can never do the job that Royal does. Your cakes will not have the flavour. —they will dry out more quickly—than if you used the best baking powder.

People who know values demand fine quality in everything they buy—whether it's a motor car or a tin of baking powder, and Royal has done a quality job for over 60 years.

MRS. SCHREUDER SWIMS WELL

The Kowloon Docks recorded a runaway victory in the "Hong" relay race, easily defeating last year's winners, the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank, at the third monthly swimming gala of the European Y.M.C.A. held last night.

An attractive programme of various events produced a good entry in all races with exciting finishes and good times.

The Docks, assisted by A. Bliss and T. Paget, gained an early lead on which they increased, recording the very creditable time for the 100 yards of 51 2/5 seconds. F. S. Nicholls reduced a big deficit for Jardine's but they were unable to catch the Bank, who finished in 56 seconds.

J. R. Wood Cup

In the members' 50 yards handicap aggregate for the J. R. Wood Cup, R. Goldman swam very strongly to win the third heat against strong opposition in A. G. Donn and H. Lange. Donn finished second in 28 2/5 seconds with Lange a close third.

G. Fowler, who took second place in the first heat, covered the distance in 28 seconds. Mrs. W. Schreuder swam magnificently in the Ladies' race, in which she conceded 12 seconds to the limit swimmer, Miss J. Wilson. Miss J. Weller, however, got home by a touch. Mrs. Schreuder's time was 32 4/5 seconds.

Thrilling Relay

The mixed relay provided a thrilling finish. R. Goldman's team, who were well in arrears in the early stages, recovering to take second place to H. Lange's team.

THREE HOLDERS SUCCESSFUL.

London, Yesterday. A crowd of 20,000 saw W. O. Finlay, the Royal Air Force track star, equal the English native record in the 120 Yards Hurdles which he negotiated in 14.8/10 secs.

Three holders were among the winners at the Amateur Athletic Association Championships, at the White City to-day.

Johnson, of Enfield, the holder, covered the 7-mile walk in 52 minutes 10 4/10 secs, while Heljas, of Poland, retained his title as champion weight-puller, with a pull of 48 feet 10 1/4 inches.

Birmingham, Irish Free State, won the Discus Throw, with a hurl of 135 feet 4 1/4 inches, and Bowen, of the Lancashire Fusiliers, won the honours in the Javelin Throw, with a distance of 169 feet 9 1/4 inches.

Murdoch, of Glasgow University, won the 220 Yards in 22.1/10 secs., while W. O. Finlay, the Air Force and Surrey crack, walked away with the 120 Yards Hurdles in 14.8/10 secs.

LOVELOCK'S CLOSE WIN—Stanwood, Oxford's brilliant American "one-man track team," was beaten only by inches in the mile, which J. E. Lovelock, former New Zealand and Oxford world record holder, won in 4 mins. 26.6/10 secs.

Bodest, of Hungary, retained his high jump title by clearing 6 ft. 3 ins.

Brown, of Achilles, won the 440 Yards Hurdles in 55.4/10 secs., while another Briton, Scarsbrook, of Surrey, secured the 2 Miles Steeplechase trophy in 10 mins. 48 4/10 secs.

ST. JOHN'S TEAM LOSE BADLY

Indians Win Four Of Five Matches.

RUMJAHN COUSINS' GOOD DISPLAY

Visiting the Indian Recreation Club at Sookunpoo yesterday afternoon, the St. John's University, Shanghai, lawn tennis team were defeated by 4 matches to 1 in their friendly encounter.

The local team won two of the three singles matches comfortably, but J. A. Cassumbhoy, last year's Colony Singles finalist, lost badly to Y. S. Tong.

In the doubles matches the Indians were superior throughout, losing only one of five sets.

S. A. Rumjahn, three times Colony champion, was more than a match for Y. C. Kwok in the first singles match, winning 6-1, 6-2. Kwok played a useful game, but his lack of experience was very apparent throughout.

This was a feature of the matches, the superior experience of the home team always outwitting the good stroke play of the visitors.

H. D. Rumjahn Successful

H. D. Rumjahn had no difficulty in defeating A. C. Ma, the star of the Shanghai team, winning for the loss of four games.

Ma appeared to be very stale. His stroke play, as seen at South China earlier in the week, was very sound, while his backhand was the source of admiration from the home team.

On the third court a different tale was told, Y. S. Tong defeating J. A. Cassumbhoy to record the only victory for the visitors.

Throughout the match the Shanghai man held the upper hand, and, although he fought gamely, Cassumbhoy was unable to stave off defeat.

Indians' Doubles Advantage

The wider experience of competitive tennis of the home team was more apparent in the doubles matches than in the singles, their court-craft time and again outwitting the St. John's men.

S. A. Rumjahn and S. A. Ismail were engaged in a long battle with Y. S. Tong and H. Wong, to win by 6-8, 6-1, 6-1.

At the start it looked as though the visitors were going to take the match.

Rumjahn was serving badly, and sent over several double faults, although his play at the net fully compensated for any weakness in service. He was impassable at the net, while his returns were tucked away well out of reach.

The Shanghai men were often baffled, and frequently found themselves out-posted.

The other Shanghai pair, Y. C. Kwok, and Y. Chen, received similar treatment at the hands of R. D. Rumjahn and I. M. A. Razack, being beaten 6-2, 6-2.

The St. John's team leave for Shanghai to-day by the S. S. Chuanoneaux.

The full results were:

SINGLES

S. A. Rumjahn (I.R.C.) beat Y. C. Kwok 6-1, 6-2.

H. D. Rumjahn (I.R.C.) beat A. C. Ma 6-3, 6-1.

J. A. Cassumbhoy (I.R.C.) lost to Y. S. Tong 3-6, 2-6.

DOUBLES

H. D. Rumjahn and I. N. Razack (I.R.C.) beat Y. C. Kwok and Y. Chen 6-2, 6-4.

S. A. Rumjahn and S. A. Ismail (I.R.C.) beat Y. S. Tong and H. Wong 6-8, 6-1, 6-1.

CHAMPIONS WIN OVER VARSITY IN TENNIS LEAGUE

Absence Of L. F. Hon Keenly Felt.

TWO SETS DROPPED IN "B" DIVISION

Playing their postponed "B" Division Lawn Tennis League match at Causeway Bay yesterday, the Chinese Recreation Club, champions since 1923, defeated the University by 7 sets to 2.

The home team were weakened by the absence of L. F. Hon, who is on leave in the north. He was replaced by K. M. Wong, a "C" Division player, who partnered F. K. Lau. The combination was not particularly effective, losing the only two sets dropped by the Chinese. Lau and Hon were recognised as one of the strongest C.R.C. pairs.

The C.R.C. have now two matches to play to complete their fixtures for the season. They will meet the vastly improved Kowloon Cricket Club team on Tuesday, and the Club de Recreio, their most formidable rivals, on a date not yet fixed.

JUNIOR CHAMPIONS WELL BEATEN IN KOWLOON

THE Kowloon Bowling Green, premier league lawn bowls champions, continued in winning vein yesterday, but the Recreio gave them a fight, holding them to 3 shots in the senior division and one shot in the junior.

The Police, who recorded their first win of the season last week, travelled to Taikoo and beat the Docks by 10 shots!

THE INDIAN RECREATION CLUB, FAVOURITES FOR THE JUNIOR TITLE, CONSOLIDATED THEIR ALMOST UNASSAILABLE POSITION WITH A WIN OVER THE FOOTBALLERS BY 44 SHOTS. THEY RECORDED 60 SHOTS—A RECORD FOR THE SEASON, BEATING CRAIGENGOWER A'S 88 AGAINST KOWLOON DOCKS LAST WEEK.

Scoring a seven on the second head G. E. F. Thompson's rink (J. Macdonald, E. V. Searle, and J. G. Charlton) beat H. Rozario's four by 9 shots to enable the Kowloon Bowling Green, juniors to complete the "double" against the Recreio.

A six on the third head did not suffice to save F. H. W. Haynes' rink from a 13 shots defeat at the hands of A. M. Wahab's four.

The two Civil Service matches, against Craigengower "B" and the Yacht Club, were postponed as a mark of respect to Mr. A. W. Grinnall.

MAURICE TATE

Takes 6 for 7 Against Northants.

WYATT, HAMMOND AND
SUTCLIFFE CENTURIES

Verity Has 7 For 75.

London, Yesterday.

The most outstanding of the many brilliant individual feats performed in the mid-week County Cricket programme was the remarkable bowling of Maurice Tate, the Sussex and all-England bowler, who dismissed 6 Northants batsmen for 7 runs in the second innings, at Hove, bringing his total for the match to 10 wickets for 58 runs, and giving Sussex their tenth win of the season.

A score of 109 by James Langridge, a likely Test candidate, was also mainly responsible for Northants' rout.

Bowlers also had a day out at Blackpool, where Lancashire defeated Worcester by 32 runs. Hopwood, who played in the last Test, secured 15 wickets for 112 runs, while Martin dismissed 5 Lancashire batsmen for 25 runs.

Test players showed good form. R. E. S. Wyatt, England's captain, scored 161 not out for Warwick against Leicester, while at Hull Herbert Sutcliffe returned to form with 166 against Essex. Verity completed the visitors' dismissal by taking 7 for 75, thus enabling Yorkshire to break their sequence of defeats.

"Wally" Hammond showed the form he has not produced on the Test field this season, scoring the only double century of the week, 217 against Notts.

Surrey representatives shone at the Oval where the Players again beat the Gentlemen. Squires hit up 119 for the winners and H. M. Garland Wells, the slow bowler, compiled 93 for the Gentlemen. Gover, who was one of the selected players for the second Test, also showed good form, taking 5 for 57.

Arnold, the Hampshire candidate for the Test opening batsman position, scored 125, while Duckfield's debut in this series of games was marked with an innings of 109.

Results, as enabled by Reuter, were:

MENZEL BEATS
McGRATH IN DAVIS CUP

Czechoslovakia Hold Australia.

CRAWFORD TRIUMPHS

Prague, Yesterday.

Australia and Czechoslovakia are on level terms in the European Zone Final of the Davis Cup competition as the result of yesterday's play in the opening singles matches.

The sensation of the day's play was the defeat in straight sets of Vivian McGrath, the youthful two-handed backhand player, by Roderique Menzel, veteran of the courts.

Menzel fully extended himself to secure a straight sets win, but it was not until 40 games had been played that the Australian bowed to defeat. Menzel's only hope was for a quick win as he could not have stood up to the strain of a five set match.

AUSTRALIA FAVOURED

The Australians are favoured to win the doubles match to-day, although Menzel and Hecht beat Perry and Hughes in the French Championship, and Jack Crawford, ex-Wimbledon champion, is expected to send Australia into the Inter-Zone Final against America with a win over Menzel to-morrow.

Scores, as cabled by Reuter, were: R. Menzel (Czechoslovakia) beat V. M. McGrath 10-8, 6-2, 8-6. J. H. Crawford (Australia) beat L. Hecht 6-4, 6-2, 6-2.

BABE RUTH RECORDS
700TH. HOMER

Yankees Beat Tigers
In U.S. Baseball.

GEHRIG AND STONE INJURED

New York, Yesterday.

Babe Ruth, former "home run king" playing for the New York Yankees in the major league American baseball yesterday, recorded the 700th major league home run of his career, enabling the Yankees to beat the Tigers by a 4 to 2 tally.

The Babe thus hit his 14th homer of the season. He expects to tour the Orient with William Shibe's all-star aggregation after the World Series has concluded.

Lou Gehrig of the Yankees retired from the game with a strained muscle after the second innings.

J. Stone, of the Washington Senators, fractured his ankle in the game against the Cleveland Indians. The doctor has predicted that it is doubtful if Stone will be able to play for the rest of the season.

The games between the Philadelphia Phillies and the St. Louis Cardinals, the Philadelphia Athletics and Chicago White Sox were postponed owing to rain.

Results, as cabled by Reuter, were:

National League

Pittsburgh 6 10 2
New York 7 11 1

GERMANY'S THIRD MUSKETEER

General Goering As He Really Appears

A Dynamic Personality

General Hermann Goering, Premier of Prussia, Reich Minister of Aviation and close ally of Chancellor Hitler, has long been an outstanding figure in Nazi Germany, but never before was he so much in the news as recently, following his stern action in quelling the revolt planned by the leaders of the Brown Shirt Army. The following article gives a close insight to the lesser-known life of the Chancellor's right-hand man, aptly named the Third Musketeer of German National Socialism.

ERECT and handsome, Goering's adjutant stood in the doorway. He clicked, saluted, and we started through a series of rooms in the secluded palace of Hermann the Great. We entered the conference room, an enormous chamber with a massive conference table, rectangles of huge candles in wrought-iron framework suspended above the place where conferences and discussions must take place which would be worth a journalist's right leg to hear. A portage telephone on a cabinet on wheels suggested the summoning of experts for the purpose of contributing one bit of data that was needed hurriedly to fit into the planning of some project.

Fantastically formidable. All this I observed—and then I saw Goering, writes James E. Abbe in the Morning Post. The massive chest of the Herr General, covered every available inch with medals, loomed through the dim light like a fish-eye view of an oncoming battleship. Not that he's the tallest man I ever saw—merely the most fantastically formidable in appearance. I had brought along about all the photographic accessories with which my many years of experience had acquainted me—but I had forgotten a black-and-tackle to swing me up within range of his rock-learned face.

So this was Hermann Goering, onetime flying ace, revolutionist, the barrel-chested giant who had risen to power as one of the new Germany's Three Musketeers. Goering, a short time ago a captain in the Aviation Corps; to-day a general of infantry—and, as third member of the triumvirate, the Drum-Major of National Socialism. Putting down the tools of my trade I grasped the wrestler's hand extended to me after we had exchanged a stiffarm salute. Following the custom of the country—as all who are in Germany for a purpose must do if they are to grand plane, and into what would have been a sun porch under brighter skies.

I set up my apparatus. "This place has the atmosphere of being very old," I said, glancing up at him, my fingers snapping gadgets into place. He looked at me.

"All that you have seen is mine," he said, waving a hand possessively.

"Do you mean to say the place was empty when you moved in?" I motioned him to a chair beneath a huge bronze plaque of himself embedded in the wall.

"Yes, it was all decorated at my direction."

Always Posed

I did not try to manoeuvre him into a pose. Goering is always posed. I started snapping him. His shifts from one position to another seemed automatic, instinctive. He took the proceedings unperturbably, with no show of concern, no nervous fidgeting and straining for position, for expression. He was too, grave, too formal. This would never do. Could he take a joke, I wondered to myself?

"Nun, Herr General: I risked, 'your expression would seem to confirm the opinion in foreign lands that you eat only children for breakfast.' I used the word 'fressen' instead of 'essen,' which means devour, rather than eat. That got a faint smile And the verbal response: 'You see how I am misunderstood. I do not eat breakfast.'"

The ice was broken.

As I indicated one stance after another, he responded as though by radio control—the perfect photographic subject.

I commented on the fact that the Lieber Gott had been kind in providing him with so spacious a background for so many decorations.

He looked at me with pity. "Come with me," he ordered. I trailed after him to a glass-enclosed cabinet, where I found where his medals really were kept. I apologised for having jumped to the conclusion that the array I'd seen on his chest were more than a sample set.

Medal Collection.

His collection of medals, incidentally, is only rivalled by the number and diversity of titles he has—Mussolini-like—accumulated in such a short period of (as well as a slight captain in the Aviation Corps); General of the Reichswehr Infantry; General of the Landespolizei; the State Police; President of the Reichstag; Minister-President of Prussia; President of the individual Prussian States; Prussian Minister of the Interior. I hope I have not left out any.

Temporarily overcome by the contemplation of all this medallion and official dignity, I asked ner-

The Hong Kong Sunday Herald

HONG KONG, SUNDAY, JULY 15, 1934.

Trade And The Trade Commission.

THE appointment of our local Trade Commission happens to coincide with a general review of conditions in other Crown Colonies by the Honourable the Colonial Secretary, Sir Philip Cunliffe Liston, in the House of Commons. In comparing their case with our own the most striking thing is the very complete contrast. It is the fact that practically none of the schemes that have been evolved to help them, the successful results of which are proved by the figures, have any relevance to Hong Kong. It is this uniqueness of our conditions that causes us to be omitted from most of the new arrangements, and creates a feeling that because we are a long way off we are a forgotten Cinderella. The practical question is, which of the new ideas could be applied to us, and which do we want to be applied?

A free port is sensitive both to the ups and downs of general trade. We have felt the full effect of the downs that will always be associated with last year; we must be cautious not to make any change which will make us insensitive to the ups. So far as the small proportion of goods that is retained for local consumption is concerned we are simply purchasers, and have nothing to grumble about if commodities are cheap; but it has been abundantly shown by recent experience that we do not gain in the end if trade goods fall to such low prices that the sources of our supplies are dried up. If sales do not pay costs the producers either agree on a restriction scheme or cease to produce altogether, and the reduction of their capital prevents them from engaging in general trade. We stand to gain in the end by the growing success of the Malayan regulation of rubber and tin export. The Treasury deficit of eleven million dollars has fallen to three as at the end of last year, and has now disappeared. It will take another year before the full results of restriction plus preference have been reaped. At present there is still a large stock in bond awaiting disposal. When that is exhausted the necessity of watching against any attempt at undue profiteering will become a live question. Tin will be much more easily controlled than rubber. There is only one other major source of supply; and Nature is on the side of limitation.

The interesting causerie given by M. Dufauré de la Prade at the Rotary Club last Tuesday had a very direct bearing on the preference controversy. The preference granted by France to Indo-China had enabled that Colony to round the corner, and thereby relieved the French Government from the prospect of giving continued financial aid. The French citizen will pay rather more when he buys a tyre, and less when he pays his taxes. Indo-China will not be able to supply the whole French demand. The price will be the regulated price of Malayan rubber, plus import duty; the grower will get that price plus the duty, owing to his privilege of free import. An indirect bounty is given, which works automatically to steady the industry.

The year 1933 saw the grants in aid of various Colonies reduced from over a million pounds to half that amount; and in the current year equilibrium has been regained. That short epitome indicates the best result that is achieved by the Imperial system; — it is based on the general ideal of each community paying its way but in bad times the stress can be spread over a wider area. That the Mother Country cannot in the long run afford to allow any Colonial Administration to go into bankruptcy was proved by the assistance given to Newfoundland. Not only was Newfoundland our oldest Colony, but it had for many years enjoyed self-government, and in theory had no claim on "His Majesty's Government in Great Britain." The breakdown was due to the pernicious custom of candidates for Parliament promising more than the State could give. The financial aid took the form of a direct grant accompanied by the control of a Commission of three, one of whom is the former Prime Minister.

Hong Kong has escaped the enormous losses that the general fall in prices inflicted on the countries that were dependent on one or two primary industries, simply because we have not had any. The breakdown of the old generalised international exchange system is yielding to a more regulated and local or regional form of trade which will be balanced more by goods and less by money. But there is evidence that the new system will work; and as soon as confidence has been restored much of the artificial regulation will be found to be unnecessary. We conclude that what we have to do is to hold on a little longer.

CHUN-SHING COMMERCIAL GRADUATES

GRATIFYING EXAM. RESULTS.

41 PUPILS RECEIVE PRIZES

"It is gratifying to report that the examination results have been very satisfactory," said Mr. C. S. Kwok, Principal of the Chun-Shing Commercial Academy, at the school's graduation and prize-giving held at Lane Crawford's Restaurant yesterday afternoon, when 41 pupils were presented with certificates and prizes.

After reviewing the academy's activities for the past year, Mr. Kwok said:

"In the 15th Term Typewriting Examination of our Academy, I have to report that more than 60 students entered and 17 of them passed the Senior Examination and 16 passed the Junior Division successfully. The first of the Senior Division is Mr. Yau Shu-por who attained a speed of 58 words per minute, and the first of the Junior Division is Mr. Leung Wing-kwong who secured a speed of 49 words per minute. These two exceptionally brilliant students have only been under instruction for four months.

Eight Distinctions

"Coming to our Commercial course, we had altogether 19 candidates entered for the 2nd term commercial examination. The result of this examination is particularly pleasing inasmuch as eight of the students passed successfully with distinctions. The first place was secured by Mr. Ho Mee-chin who passed seven subjects out of eight, such as Book-keeping, Com., Knowledge, Correspondence, Imp. & Exp., Shipping, Insurance, and Com., Arithmetic.

Dr. S. F. Lam, after presenting the certificates and prizes, congratulated, in a few appropriate words the staff and students on their excellent achievement and the rapid growth of the Academy. Mr. C. K. Lee, of the teaching staff, presided.

The following pupils received prizes and certificates:

FLYING ENTERPRISE IN FAR EAST

DUTCH FULLY ALIVE TO POSSIBILITIES

OPPORTUNITY PASSING COLONY

(By Our Aviation Correspondent.)

The intense aroused in the Far East by the subject of commercial aviation can be gathered from the fact that negotiations are now in progress in many places with a view to connecting countries by regular air-lines.

The Dutch are conspicuous for their alertness to the problems and possibilities and, with a large Far Eastern Empire, they are naturally in a good position to develop air-lines, not only on their own territory, but on that of neighbouring countries.

I referred only last week to the possibility that when reliable air-lines connect Hong Kong and China with the outside world, it would not be beyond the bounds of possibility that the Philippine Islands would be keen to connect with Hong Kong, making a through line with the Islands and main lines running in all directions.

DUTCH ENTERPRISE

That the Dutch are fully awake to these possibilities is fully apparent by the fact that Capt. A. J. Prillwitz, chief pilot of the Royal Dutch Indian Airline, is at present in Manila, for the purpose of investigating the possibilities of connecting the Philippine Islands with Java, and thus with a through air-line to Europe.

Capt. Prillwitz is at present in Manila investigating landing conditions in Philippine Islands, in Manila, Cebu and Iloilo. He is also investigating the many possibilities of the islands from the commercial aviation point of view.

He is studying weather conditions, accommodation for passengers, and other things pertaining to the comfort of passengers who will fly from Java to the Philippines and back, and has made a statement that a weekly service is contemplated by his company.

ROUTE PLANNED

A glance at the route is quite interesting. The planes will leave Sourabaya, in Java, and will touch at Macassar, in the Celebes, from which port they will fly to Balikpapan.

HUGE HAUL OF OPIUM.

Prohibitive Fine On Firewood Dealer.

Following a raid led by Detective-Sergeant Goodwin, last Tuesday, on the ground floor of No. 26, Yuen Chow Street, six Chinese were charged before Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Central Magistracy yesterday morning for being in possession of 1,900 taels of raw opium.

The men were Yip Tak-choi, Yip Yick-sing, Sum Tso-po, Yip Kai-ching, Tong Su and Tong Fo.

Yip Tak-choi, who took all the responsibility, was fined $5,000, in default 12 months' hard labour, while the rest were discharged. The officer said that the place where the raid was made, was a newly-established business dealing in fire-wood. The opium was found hidden in hollows in five pine logs.

STOWAWAY FROM PHILIPPINES.

Second Offence Receives Gaol Sentence.

Benito Ormella, a 19-year-old unemployed from the Philippine Islands, was sentenced to one month's hard labour, with an expulsion order at the completion of the sentence, by Mr. E. I. Wynne Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday for stowing away on the R.M.S. Empress of Russia, which left Manila on July 9 at 4 p.m.

The case was remanded from Thursday, and it was discovered that he had already been convicted for the same offence in September last year.

Papen and Tarakan, in Borneo, and then to Zamboanga on the island of Mindanao, and Manila.

This means that some fairly long distances for commercial flying will have to be covered. The total distance is approximately 2,050 miles, the longest leg being between Zamboanga and Manila, which is approximately 600 miles, or a little less than from Manila to Hong Kong.

It is expected that a large volume of passenger trade would be carried on these aeroplanes, chiefly tourists, who would value a quick and safe method of visiting Java or the Philippines, which would be impracticable if on board ship.

SINGAPORE TO MANILA
If the Dutch can contemplate running a line of this description it might be worth while for a British company to consider a similar line from Singapore to Manila.

That the flight is possible was apparent when the R.A.F. flying boat squadron visited Hong Kong and Manila from Singapore.

A trip of easier distances than those proposed by the Dutch could be performed from Singapore, calling chiefly at British ports in North Borneo.

Another Company which is fully aware of the possibilities of flying in the Far East is the New Guinea Airways, whose representative, Mr. S. J. Taylor, is now visiting Manila.

COURAGEOUS FLYING

New Guinea Airways have demonstrated, perhaps more than any other Company in the world, the distances to which commercial aviation can be carried.

It was not many years ago when the gold fields were discovered at Bulolo and Edie Creek in New Guinea. These rich finds were many thousand feet up, over almost impassable mountain ranges, threaded with gullies, overgrown with jungle, and infested with snakes and cannibals.

It was "nine days" hazardous journey from the coast to the gold-fields, yet the New Guinea Airways, with courageous enterprise, installed an airway, which not only carried passengers, but carried the whole of the mining and engineering plant to the fields, many of the units of machinery carried weighing as much as five tons. The flight can be accomplished in half-an-hour.

CHINESE AVIATION EXPERTS

Five Delegates Arriving In Colony To-day.

EN ROUTE TO EUROPE TO MAKE SURVEY

The five members of the Chinese Central Government Mission, General Mao Pang-tso, a nephew of Marshal Chiang Kai-shek, Col. Yang Yo-tsung, Col. C. F. Wong, and Col. Liu Fan-shu, who are en route to Europe and America to investigate matters pertaining to aviation, are passing through Hong Kong to-day on board the S.S. Gange.

They will spend two months in Italy, a fortnight in France and Germany, and a month in England before proceeding to U.S.A. for two months.

Representatives of the Far Eastern Aviation Company will welcome the mission by stunt flying over the Gange. After landing the visitors will be given flights over the island and mainland.

When in England the mission will meet members of the Home Government, and will visit aircraft manufacturers with a view to discovering the most suitable equipment for the Chinese Air Force. Mr. J. Willocks, British Air Attache in China, has made arrangements for the mission to meet officials of the Air Ministry and the Royal Air Force.

Sleepless in a Sleeping World.

NERVOUS strain and digestive unrest — resulting in over-stimulation of your mental activities — are the usual causes of sleepless nights. Brain and nerves need rest and food in order that they may recuperate, and some form of light restorative nourishment, taken before retiring, is necessary.

The World's best nightcap is "Ovaltine," which supplies concentrated nourishment in an easily digested form. This complete and balanced food is prepared from Nature's richest foods — ripe barley malt, fresh creamy milk, and eggs from our own and selected farms. Eggs are particularly important because they provide organic phosphorus — an essential requirement for building up brain and nerves. "Ovaltine" contains no narcotic or drug of any kind.

HONG KONG AND THE NEW TERRITORIES. — No. 113.

Summer Orchids.

On the 7th we decided to explore the south-west coast line of Starling Inlet near Sha-tau-kok; on the way two species of orchid in flower were observed from the car. The first was the Bamboo orchid, Arundina chinensis, so called because the vegetative parts are reminiscent of the habit of a bamboo. This orchid is strictly protected by law as is the Lily (N.N. 110) and we were informed that someone was observed digging up bulbs on Victoria Peak this month. The flowers are pale rose save for the lip which is heavily marked with rosy purple. This is undoubtedly one of our most beautiful orchids, and fortunately it is abundant in the Territories; it is at its best in August but flowers may be found from July to Christmas.

On a bank above the road approaching Tai Po we noticed a splash of white so stopped the car to investigate. It was a Susan orchid (N.N. 110) at its best. We stopped to take a photograph as it was ideally situated. Whilst clearing away some grass and fern that obstructed the view a small ground orchid was discovered of a species quite unknown to us—specimens were collected.

Flying Enterprise In Far East.

MANILA TO NEW GUINEA
Mr. Taylor is in Manila studying the possibilities of connecting New Guinea with Manila by an airline. This is certainly not beyond the bounds of possibility, the route between the two countries being studded with a continuous line of islands.

This brings Hong Kong into the line of things once again as, if this line were ever completed, it is not outside the bounds of possibility that we could become connected with Manila, and by New Guinea with Australia. (New Guinea is only about 90 miles from the north of Cape York Peninsula).

This, I think, brings us, once more to our local flying problems, but, perhaps, gives them a new aspect.

It would be rather narrow-minded to look on our possibilities as an aviation port as just a connecting link between China and Europe.

This, of course, is our main problem, but we must not overlook our other problems, while considering what might appear to be the almost insurmountable difficulties of the most important one.

BIG SCOPE FOR LOCALS

With Manila only 650 miles away, and the reliable flying range of commercial aircraft increasing every year, the possibility of linking up must not be overlooked.

Our American neighbours are bound to have their eye on the problem.

Aviation is not dead in the Philippines. It is possible to fly from Manila to Baguio in a short time and to enjoy a week-end in the hills away from the sweltering heat of the coastal capital.

Mr. J. H. Marsmann, one of the large mining magnates in the Philippines has his own private plane, with which he flies from Manila to inspect his various interests in the hills.

MANY OPPORTUNITIES

The American flying interests, therefore, are not likely to overlook the possibilities of flying to Hong Kong, if such a scheme is ever brought up.

With the opportunity of connecting lines to the Dutch East Indies and New Guinea, this is an opportunity which must certainly not be overlooked.

There are definite signs that a spirit of air-mindedness is slowly awakening in the Colony. If this spirit is fostered by those with influence and the interests of the Colony at heart, Hong Kong should go far towards being the chief airport of the Far East.

Arriving at the Sha-tau-kok police station we left the car and walked along the shore path running due south. Perhaps owing to the presence of the Pat Sir range in the path of the prevailing wind, rain fell for a greater part of our walk and within a few minutes we were literally soaked to the skin. Once soaked it does not matter much whether the rain continues or the sun shines. This is one of our favourite districts for walks in the winter, here coral is burnt in kilns being converted into lime, here live the Little Kingfisher and the Chinese Pied Kingfisher and here may be seen Japanese Buzzards and perchance an Osprey. No coral was being burnt but we noticed every large pile awaiting calcination and it seems, therefore, that during the wet summer months coral is accumulated in preparation for burning in the dry autumn and winter months. The birds seen included many Chinese Pond Herons, a few Little Egrets, a pair of Little Kingfishers two Crow Pheasants (one immature) and a number of other common species.

Two species of flowering shrubs were in full blossom one was Cerbera odollam with large pure white sweet smelling flowers and the other Hibiscus tiliaceus with large yellow flowers with a reddish eye. Both these trees are coastal trees and are common to the tropics of Asia. We remember seeing the latter plant growing luxuriantly on Krakatau in 1923—a piece of pumice from that famous island is still in use in our bathroom. Pumice can be found on local beaches but whether it has been derived from submarine volcanoes or from the Krakatau explosion of 1883 we cannot say.

Twice recently at Sha-tau-kok and on the Peak we have seen in flower the most attractive of the wild Ipomoeas namely Ipomoea digitata a species with purplish red flowers which open in the morning and with deeply divided rather fleshy leaves. The common local species is I. palmata with pale purplish flowers, the leaves of this species are not fleshy and the flowers also less fleshy than those of Ipomoea digitata.

FRENCH REPUBLIC ANNIVERSARY

Distinguished Gathering At Local Reception.

TRIBUTE TO PRESS

Tribute to the English-speaking press in Hong Kong was paid yesterday by the Consul-General for France, M. G. Dufaur de la Prade, in a speech at his residence, No. 13, Peak Road, yesterday morning, on the occasion of the reception to celebrate the 145th anniversary of the declaration of the French Republic.

The official's eulogy was directed at the handling of the recent reports on the Paris riots. "Commercial depression, millions of men out of work against their own will, threat of starvation in a world which is over-flooded by wealth of every kind, uncertainty of what to-morrow brings us, inability, till now, of the leaders, to adjust properly two opposite factors of our modern life; the increase in number of world population, and, at the same time, the decrease of employment of human labour caused by use of machinery, all that has given, here and there, origin to troubles and riots and entertained everywhere a dangerous state of popular ferment," he said.

Sad But Fruitful
"In this regard, the evening of February 6 in Paris was the saddest, but perhaps most fruitful, event in the history of the Third Republic. It would be painful to me to describe it, but I deem it a duty to express my gratitude to the English Press of Hong Kong (Continued on Page 12)

MARCUS SHOW CLEARED

In reply to protests filed by several religious institutions and Catholic colleges in Manila, against the exhibition of the Greater Marcus Show, the Mayor of the city, Mr. Tomas Earnshaw, has issued a letter stating that he finds nothing obscene in the show, with the exception of two numbers one of which he has ordered to be eliminated, and the other changed.

A Neglected Concert.

THERE were no doubt good reasons for building the Chinese Y.M.C.A. in its secluded position in Bridges Street; but one of the consequences, partly due to some shyness in the advertising line, is that some very interesting things take place there that very few people ever hear of. Last Wednesday there was a concert which was given by Mr. Ing, or under his auspices by his pupils, at which the few Europeans who knew of it had a rare treat. Mr. Ing is the head of the Shanghai National Conservatory of Music, and the concert, which is one item in a tour of the Far Eastern ports, is intended to make the Conservatory better known. The programme was mostly European music rendered with a high technical accomplishment by Mr. Ing himself assisted by two pupils in the instrumental pieces and by Mr. Mann, who uses effectively a very sympathetic baritone. There were also half a dozen selected pieces by Chinese composers, including one for the old Chinese Guitler, an instrument perhaps heard for the first time in Hong Kong, and not often to be heard anywhere.

Passing Virtuosos.

EVEN at the risk of being accused of what Lord Randolph Churchill once called "the dreary drip of desultory declamation," one feels bound to emphasise how much Hong Kong loses by the lack of a convenient centre, with good acoustics, such as the old Town Hall never was, where music other than jazz, and generally other efforts of those who are appreciative of the arts and sciences, would find their natural home. The trouble is that of the many talented people who pass through our port and stop over for a few days, very few are inclined to undertake the expense and risk of hiring one of the available places and advertising a performance; and there is a far larger number of people who would be capable of giving much pleasure to an audience, who are not professionals and would not even think of taking the necessary trouble. In many ports there is a society based on the model of the 'Savage Club' in London, where all who are in any way qualified to amuse or interest an audience are invited as a matter of course to the weekly meeting. The Rotarians perform something of the same function for those who can enlighten us on subjects of intelligent scope; the evening club nights would be more casual and of the modern type of bohemianism. The old type is practically dead nowadays, and need not be mourned.

Angels Unaware.

IN such clubs it is quite remarkable how frequently the records show that artistic angels have been entertained unaware; men, for instance who have subsequently become famous. The great desideratum for members is that they should be able to judge of quality for themselves and not be dependent on established fame. Paderewski once said that he had never played so well after he became famous as he had done before. He also said that his audiences fell away rapidly when he became stout, but that it made no difference to his playing. In Hong Kong we have abundant material for such a club, provided it was run with enterprise to catch the passer-by, and no social exclusions. We have even now a very accomplished violin virtuoso, Mr. Conrada de la Cruz, a Filipino, who does not seem to get any chance of using his powers. We have of course the studio and the wireless, and much may be done thereby; but we are faced by the fact that the recent plebiscite of favourite items put gramophone records of dance music far above any performance by local artists.

Rival Entertainments.

THE question is, like many others, capable of being widened out to any extent. If people want entertainment they will take what is offered to them; and their taste is based on what they have had before. The direct attack on the inferior films is bound to fail so long as the public has not discovered that it can enjoy other forms of indoor amusement. Then we shall begin to get more variety.

SUDDEN PASSING OF JOAN GRIMMITT BLOOD-POISONING VICTIM.

MANY PAY LAST TRIBUTE

The death occurred at the Victoria Hospital on Friday evening of Dorothy Joan Grimmitt, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Grimmitt, who are well-known in Hong Kong official, social, and sporting circles.

The girl was admitted to the hospital on the Friday morning, suffering from blood-poisoning.

THE FUNERAL
There was a very large attendance at the funeral which took place yesterday afternoon at the Roman Catholic Cemetery, the Rev. Father Riganiti officiating. The coffin was carried to the grave by Messrs. T. Armstrong, H. Major, P. E. Knight and W. Ward.

CHARLIE CHAN CARRIES ON

Youth's Purposeless Thefts.

MENTAL CONDITION QUERIED

Three theft charges were brought against Henry Wong, alias Chan Fok-kin, alias Charlie Chan, 18 years, by Inspector J. Murphy at the Central Magistracy, before Mr. E. W. Hamilton yesterday morning.

Wong was charged last Wednesday with driving car No. 293, belonging to Mr. M. T. Fung, without a driver's license and without the owner's permission to drive the car, on Island Road, near Deep Water Bay, resulting in a crash causing damage to the extent of $173.

The new charges were: (A) The larceny of a watch, the property of Mr. Robert Umnuss, at the A.P.C. Building, on July 5.

(B) Obtaining a pair of shoes by false pretences from Mr. W. S. Drake, manager of Messrs. Gordon's Ltd., by pretending that he was an employee of the China Light and Power Company, and.

(C) Obtaining a pair of shoes from Messrs. Gordon's by false pretences.

Inspector Murphy stated that accused had been swindling people in the Colony for sometime and that other charges could be brought against him.

When asked by Mr. Hamilton whether his son was in a sound mental condition, Mr. Chan, the father, said that his son was not quite sane. He said, when questioned by Mr. Hamilton, that he did not know of the existence of Mr. R. C. Mitchell, who was said by defendant to have been supporting him, thus enabling him to buy a car.

Mr. Hamilton convicted the accused on the car charge and on the charge of a theft of a pair of shoes. He will be sentenced next Saturday. His Worship said that it was no use sending him to the St. Louis Industrial Home since he is too old for it, but he will relay later where to send him.

Do You Give A Square Deal In Life?

Everybody's Business To Maintain Ideals

"Short-weight Shylocks"

(By the Rev. J. N. Lewis Bryan.)

SOME years ago a party of Archaeologists were excavating on the site of one of the buried cities of Palestine. Gradually they cleared away the sand that had accumulated across the centuries until at last they got down to the foundations.

It must be one of the most interesting occupations in the world, this search among the dust of the ages for relics of civilisations that have passed and gone in the dim days long ago, and Religion owes much to the work of the spade. Again and again incidents which the critical scholars have deemed impossible or without proof, have been verified by the chance findings in the buried cities of Palestine and Asia Minor.

In this particular case (and as usual) they were able to trace the way the streets had been planned, even the kind of dwellings in which the people had lived, and the nature of the shops. In one of the latter they found some tiny trinkets, which proved that it must have been the property of a jeweller. Searching about still more they found under the counter a bag. On being opened it was found to be in divided into two parts by a partition, and on either side was a collection of weights.

So far there was nothing strange, that came when they examined these weights. On one side the weights were under the correct scale, and on the other they were over. In other words, five thousand years ago or more, the old scoundrel who kept this shop had been in the habit of cheating his customers. When they came to him to buy, he used one set, and when they came to sell, he used the other.

God's Foresight

It is rather a strange thing how the Almighty seems to know the queer things we humans are sometimes inclined to do, for tucked away in the second Book of the Law, known as Deuteronomy, we read this warning: "Thou shalt not have in thy bag divers weights, a great and a small."

He was dealing with a primitive people in the dawn of history, and they had to be taught the elementary rules which have since passed into our Common Law, and become the code of our everyday dealings with one another. They had to be taught how to play the game, and the penalties that would be exacted if they failed to respect the rights of others.

I do not suppose there are any who may be reading this article this morning who have ever been tempted to use false weights in their business. This kind of thing is not usually found in large concerns, but occasionally in the smaller lines of business, when a dishonest shopkeeper cheats his customers. It is of course an offence.

JAPAN EMPEROR LEAVES CITY.

Escaping Summer Heat At Hayama.

H.I.M. Emperor Hirohito will leave Tokyo for the Imperial Villa at Hayama to-day to escape the heat of the capital.

At the same time the Empress, accompanied by H.I.H. Prince Tsuga, the Crown Prince, will go to Nausu, a noted summer resort.

The Emperor will later proceed to Nausu, probably in August, and remain there until the end of the month.

SANITARY BOARD MEETING.

A letter from the Government signifying the approval of the Legislative Council to the amendment of the Slaughter-house By-laws, together with two applications for eating house licences and two for dairy licences, will be presented at the meeting of the Sanitary Board, on Tuesday.

ence against the Law and is punishable with heavy fines. In all civilised countries there are inspectors appointed whose sole job it is to go around periodically, and unexpectedly, to shops and demand to see their weights and measures. Only a few weeks ago, here in Hong Kong there was a case in Court about this very thing and a fine was imposed.

Faults In Ourselves.

If you went into a shop, and found the man behind the counter putting his finger on the scale, to his own advantage, you would feel very much inclined to leave a half-brick through his window, and tell him exactly where he got off. We would be furious if we saw it being done to some one who could ill afford it, and yet are we so free from the same crime ourselves?

We may not serve in a shop, but we are guilty in lots of other ways of the very same offence.

What sort of weights are we using in our homes? How many men there are who waste the money they ought to be spending on their homes for their own personal amusements, not so much out here, as at home. It is the curse of the slums of our great cities, and the reason for their existence. Men who slave for a week, and then drink and gamble their money away, while their families are allowed to starve.

How many men go out night after night or week-end after week-end and leave their wives at home—the woman they promised to love and cherish, until golf took her place, and made her a widow almost as surely as though death had divided them. They would hate to be thought dishonest men, and yet what is the difference?—they are guilty of using false weights as much as the man who pays out a widow woman 15 ounces to the pound.

Square Deal For Others

What about the children? What weights are we using with them? Parents who bring them in to the world are responsible for their welfare, not only the job of feeding and clothing them, but of building up their characters. How often that job is left to other, and with mighty indifferent results. What weights are we using in our dealings with our fellow men? We are so bound up together that everything we say and do has an influence upon somebody else. If we see a man going down the slope of life, slipping away from the ideals which we knew he had, and we make no effort to stick out our hand and help him we are failing in our duty towards society to which we all belong. It is not the job of the parson only, it is everybody's business.

What about these splendid bodies and minds that God has given us—what sort of weights are we using with regard to them? It is an amazing thing how almighty careful we are not to touch any food out here that might affect our tummies, yet we don't give two hoots what kind of food we feed to our minds, which are of far greater importance than the carcasses we carry about. Unless we are playing fair by them it is merely the guilty shopkeeper over again.

God's Bountiful Hand

Last of all,—what weights are we using in our dealings with God Himself? In all His dealings with us, He gives us the fullest measure, pressed down, and running over. He never gives with a niggard hand, and what do we give Him in return? Isn't it only too true in the vast majority of cases that we do not even give Him two ounces in the pound. We take all and give nothing; and then we wonder why things go wrong, why we miss the happiness that might be ours. If we examine the weights we may find out the real reason.

We came into this world—each one of us—worth 16 ounces to the pound, in every sense and direction,—what are we paying out?

ROUND THE WORLD ON FOUR SHILLINGS

MANCHESTER YOUTH IN HONG KONG

CAPTURED BY BEDOUINS AND DEPORTED FROM ARABIA

(Exclusive to "Sunday Herald.")

MR. G. W. Kenneth Savage, 22-year-old English adventurer from Manchester, arrived in Hong Kong on Friday after completing 13,700 miles in his attempt to circle the globe on a capital of 4/-.

The youthful adventurer, an account of whose experiences has been given exclusively to the "Sunday Herald," leaves Hong Kong to-day for the North.

The following is Mr. Savage's story in his own words:

LAST July, finding the hum drum city life of Manchester too lacking in excitement to satisfy me, I advertised in the English newspapers for a companion to join me in a round-the-world cruise by canoe. No fewer than 473 adventurous people replied, two of whom were girls.

After choosing my companion we set off on August 7, 1933 from Cleopatra's Needle on the Thames in a 14-foot open canoe, with only 4 shillings in cash and 500 photographs of ourselves (which we hoped to sell), and plenty of optimism.

Channel in 9-3/8 Hours

We eventually reached Dover and paddled across the Channel to France, taking 9 3/8 hours for the crossing. Then by way of the French canals and rivers into Belgium. But at Ghent disaster overtook us, when our frail craft was crushed between a barge and a lock wall, and we were reluctantly compelled to abandon it. However, we decided to push on, and, each buying a rucksack, we set out to walk around the world instead. We hiked through Belgium, Luxemburg, Eastern France and Switzerland, climbed the famous St. Gothard Pass, and so reached Italy.

It was a case of tramp, tramp, tramp, through sunny Italy to Sicily, via Rome and Naples. Here we embarked on the short sea passage to Malta. That cost us 10 shillings, the first money we had paid in fares since leaving England. As anticipated we had covered all expenses by the sale of the photographs.

Christmas in Malta

Christmas was spent in Malta and we were glad of the rest and respite. Tunis in North Africa was our next goal, after working our passages on a small steamer. But here again, I had to make another quick decision. My partner, who had been ailing for some time, said that the privations were too much for him and worked his passage back to England and comfort. Should I carry on? Yes, was my decision, and on I went.

Strangely enough from the very day I hit out on my own, adventures seemed to befall me. On New Year's Day I was smuggled aboard a British steamer by the crew, hidden in the coal bunkers, and dropped ashore in Egypt. Then began the trek through the land of the Pharaohs.

Mistaken For Deserter

All went well until I left Cairo, when, 30 miles from that ancient city and out in the desert, I was mistaken for a deserter from the British Army by a band of Bedouins. They seized me, and, despite my protests, locked me up in an odoriferous pigeon-cote.

On the fourth day, after being fed meanwhile on sour cheese and goats meat, I was released and taken on a camel back to the regiment at Cairo. The Commanding Officer, when all was explained, thought it was a great joke. I am afraid I did not see eye to eye with him in this matter. A couple of officers motoring down to Port Said, however, gave me a lift in their car.

From here I worked my way into West Arabia, but, in trying to enter Mecca without a permit, I was arrested by the native guards and sent to Jeddah with instructions to remove myself or be deported. I removed myself, per Arab Bhow, to Port Sudan, from which sun-blasted spot I got a passage as ship's carpenter to Aden. Then, via another British tramp steamer, I gained Bombay.

Hiking in 110 in Shade

Then began a 2,000 mile hike through India at the hottest time of the year, with the temperature 110 degrees in the shade. I accomplished this in eight weeks and reached Colombo, in Ceylon, after polling across the straits on a home-made bamboo raft. A French skipper offered me a passage to the Malay States and a goods train supplied the means of locomotion to Singapore.

From here by much strategy, I continued to get a lift on a German boat to the Philippine Islands and I have just worked my way into Hong Kong from Manila on one of Ellerman's steamers. Work on the ships consists of anything from peeling onions to scrubbing decks, and I have travelled in almost every capacity from stowaway to steward, and from cook to carpenter. I have not yet been a captain, save of my own canoe.

13,700 Miles Covered

My total distance travelled since leaving Manchester is 13,700 miles at an average speed of 45 miles a day. My route will be via Japan to San Francisco. Then follows the long trans-American hike and by working my passage I shall cross the Atlantic from New York to Liverpool, arriving at my journey's end in December 1934. This will more than halve the existing record for such a trip, held by a German.

My object is to write a book on my adventures.

MUI TSAI CASES.

Girl Unregistered And Assaulted.

Ho Yi, a 38-year-old married woman, of No. 2, Temple Street, first floor, was charged before Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Central Magistracy morning, with keeping an unregistered mui tsai, Ng Yin-ping, alias Chow Lin, and with assaulting the girl.

Sub-Inspector Fraser stated that last Friday, the mui tsai reported to No. 2 Police Station, that she was an unregistered mui tsai, and that she had been assaulted by her mistress and bitten on both arms by her son. The case was remanded until to-morrow afternoon, and the accused's bail was set at $500.

Brought To Colony.

Charged with bringing an unregistered mui tsai into the Colony, Yip Yi-mui, a married woman, was fined $20.

Sub-Inspector Fraser said that the girl, who is a 12-year-old, is well treated and that her mother was in very poor circumstances, having sold her for $50. The accused came from Canton to visit her son.

CONVENT TRAGEDY.

Man Kissed Nun And Was Shot.

Stanasia Theodoropoulos, a girl of 20, entered a convent near Thebes, in Greece, after a disappointment in love, and took the veil (says Reuter).

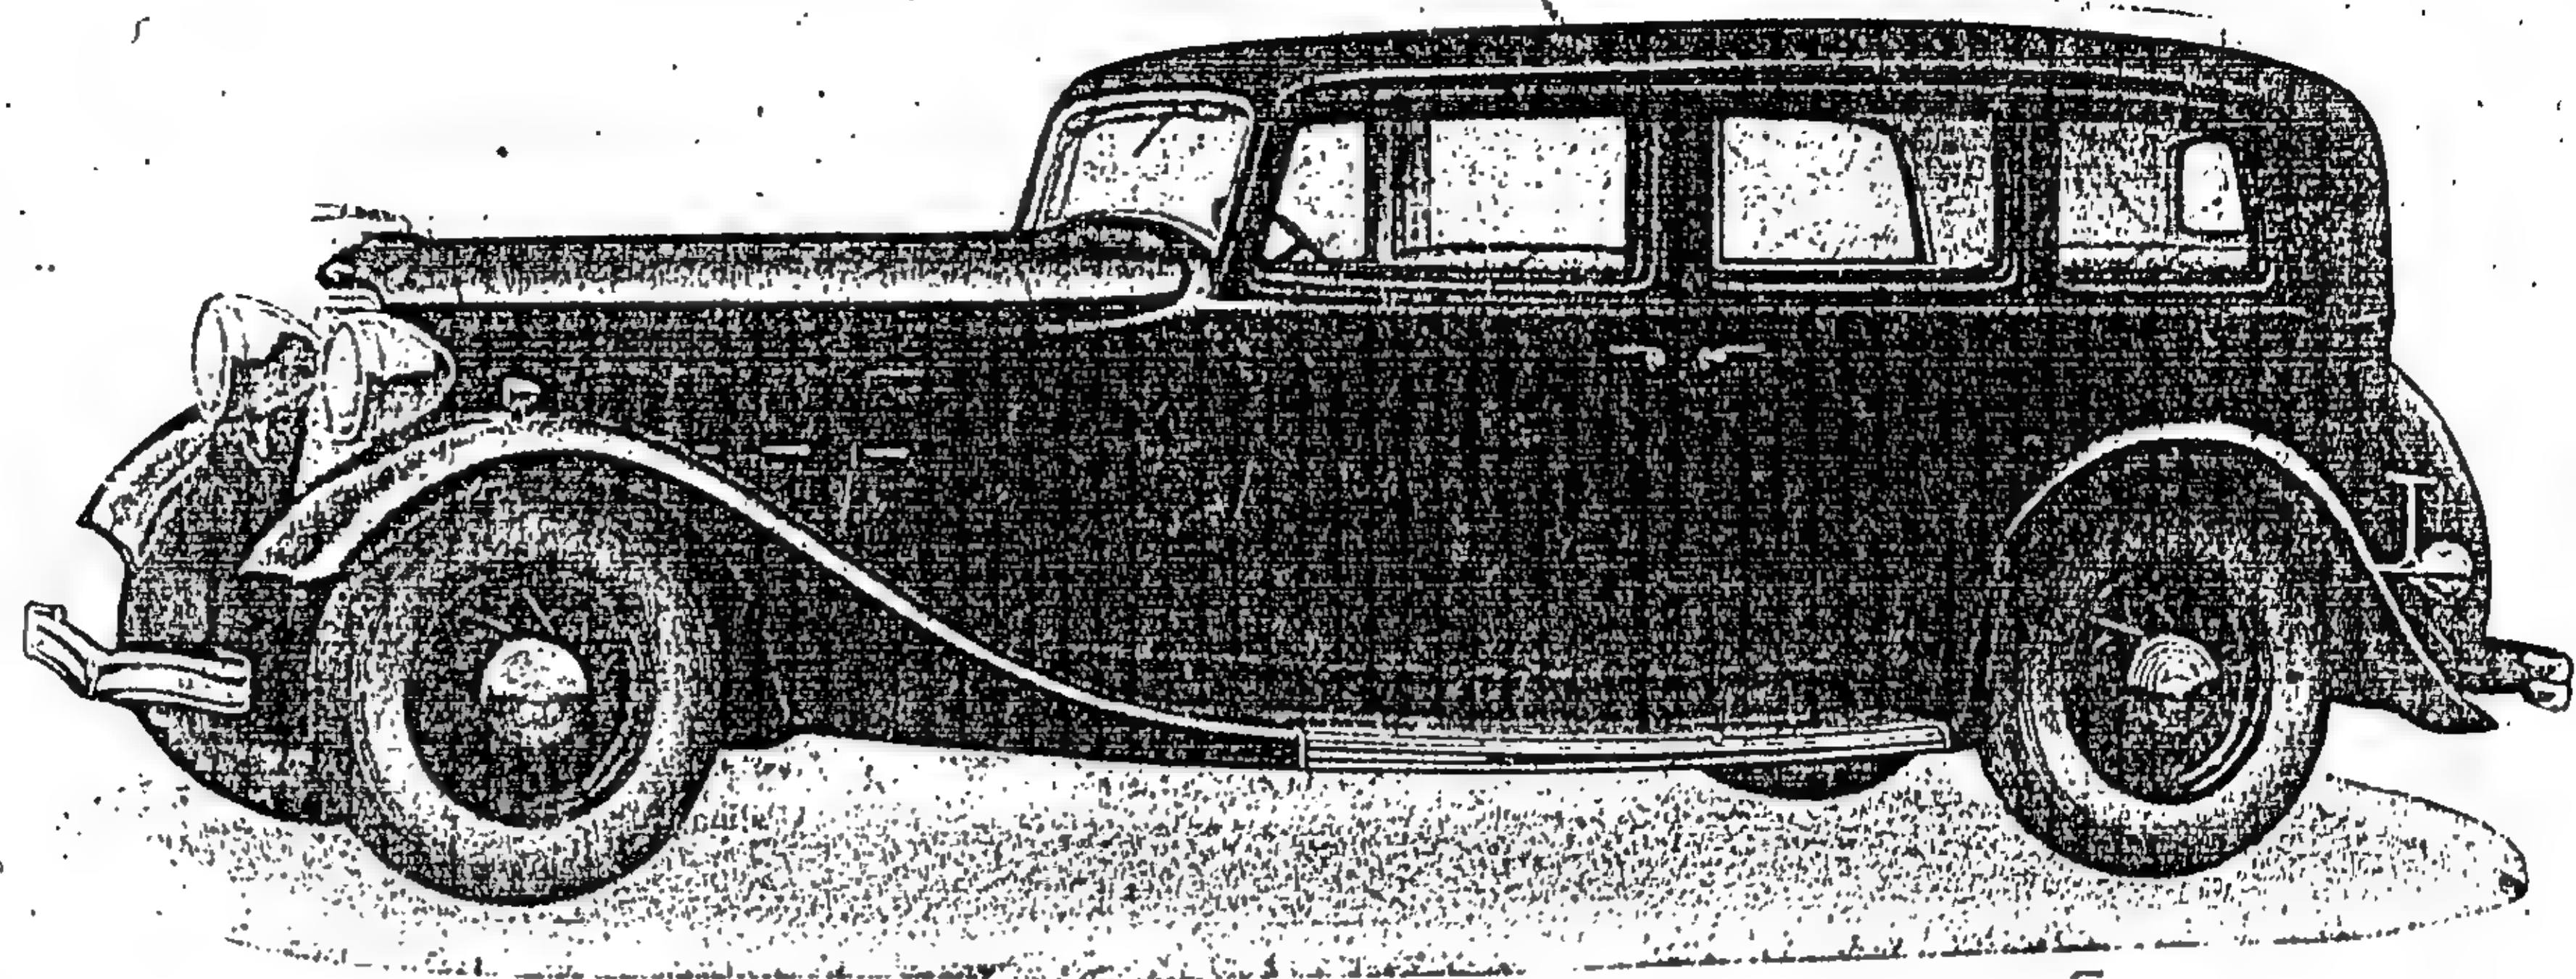

Recently workmen were called into the convent to carry out repairs. One of them, a man named Tserepis, fell in love with Stanasia. During the night he returned to the convent, gained admission to the girl's room, and awakened her with a kiss. Stanasia, leaping out of bed, produced a revolver and shot the man dead. Then she fled from the convent.

Many hours later she staggered into Thebes and surrendered to the police. She said she had shot Tserepis because she could not endure being kissed by a man.

The men sold the pigs to a married woman named Wong Ho, who was fined $50; in default one month's imprisonment for receiving stolen property, for $32.

ARTIST ESCAPES DEATH

Bullet Hits Teeth Without Harm.

Sydney. Maurice Rooklyn earns his living as a variety artist by allowing a rifle to be fired at him. The bullet hits his teeth without hurting him. A crowded theatre at Bondi (New South Wales) waited to see him do this. In silence Rooklyn's assistant fired.

Blood spurted from Rooklyn's forehead, and ran down his face.

for having so tactfully, so broad-mindedly analysed and understood the character and the meaning of that dreadful night. British editors have accurately perceived in this demonstration, the re-awakening of the French people, this honest and healthy people, who likes the well-finished work, the pretty work, the work made with clean hands and conscientious heart; and, as the French workman says: "L'ouvrage bien fait, la belle ouvrage," by love and courtesy towards his work, rendering feminine a word that grammar, the awful French masculine word, because labour is generally hard and severe, and may add, were, at this season, sweated labour.

"The events of February last were in fact the reaction of a sound body against dangerous disease, and the subsequent happenings have shown that the people of France still remain, as the Roman said, 'Mens sana in corpore sano.'"

"This explains why they were as prompt to demonstrate 'as to listen to the wise advice of old noble statesmen such as Presidents Poincaré and Doumergue, who always respond to the call of the country and abandon their quiet and lovely country houses to face, in spite of their age, the strain and disappointments of Public life. As Poincaré did in 1926, President Doumergue in 1934, devotes himself to restoring order, imposing discipline, and, through mere paternal words and his well-known smile, makes all sacrifices, formerly refused, acceptable and accepted."

PEAK TRAM

(To the Editor, the "Sunday Herald.")
Sir,—I am a fairly frequent visitor to the upper levels of the Peak, especially during the Winter season, and should certainly visit them more frequently if the approach to the Tramway station in Garden Road did not involve so much hard labour. In the Summer one is like a washed-out rag by the time the station is reached.

It is true that there are chairs and 'buses available; but one cannot be sure of getting a 'bus when one wants it, while as for chairs—well, the jog-jog-jog of a chair makes me sick and gives me a bad headache; and in any case the 'bus or chair adds to the expense of the trip.

Being a great admirer of Hong Kong and its wonderful scenery, I like to show off the place and have often taken visitors up the Peak. They have always enjoyed the view and the experience, but have almost invariably remarked on the difficulty of getting to the Tramway station; indeed, one of them wondered that anyone not actually living on the Peak ever made a second journey unless he were compelled to do so!

If the China Mail agitation, launched 40 years ago, for the extension of the tramway to Queen's Road, had been successful, I fancy that the Company's shares would have been an even more tempting investment than they are to-day. So, good luck to your present attempt on the public's behalf.

$500 BANK NOTE FORGERY

Clever Enough To Deceive Anyone.

NOT MANY ON MARKET

Be careful with that $500 bank-note! There are a number of very cleverly forged notes of that denomination now in circulation in the Colony.

They may deceive you, but they will not deceive the bank cashier or shroff, so always watch when you receive one.

Mr. G. de la B. B. Fitzgerald, the Chief Accountant of the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank told the Sunday Herald yesterday that it is very difficult to calculate the number of forged notes in circulation, but they are not thought to be considerable.

It is only on rare occasions that they have passed through to the bank. "When a Chinese receives a forged note," he said, "it is only rarely that he takes it to the bank as the bank will immediately chop it as forged. He will wait until he can pass it off on some unsuspecting business associate."

The notes which are in circulation are good forgeries, and could easily be mistaken for genuine, if taken casually.

Mr. V. M. Grayburn, the manager of the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank, had little to say on the matter. The reward which has been offered is entirely in the hands of the police, and he had no other information.

RECREIO CONCERT SUCCESS"Old Trouper" Benefits Considerably.

The spacious hall of the Club de Recreio was crowded to overflowing last night for a very excellent concert, given by the Club, in aid of an "Old Trouper" whose family has fallen on hard times.

A full and interesting programme, lasting from 9.15 p.m. to well beyond midnight, was given. Fred and His Pals orchestra provided the major share of the music, both as overtures to the two sections of the programme and as individual items.

One of the most popular turns was a "Comedy Duo" by Mr. J. J. Ferguson and Mr. J. C. Grenham, with Ray Remedios at the piano. Mr. Grenham was ridiculously funny in a mixed costume of Highland cheeks and "tails," while the step dances of both comedians were very cleverly executed.

Serious Touch
An instrumental trio, comprised of Mr. E. Alves, Professor F. Gonzalez and Miss Natalie Rosario was very well received, being encored many times.

Their rendering of Beethoven's Minuet and Gounod's Ave Maria was particularly good.

Mrs. Gourevitch Frishman also added a serious touch to the evening's entertainment, with several pianoforte solos, including Chopin's Ecossaises and Mendelssohn's Prelude.

A delightful touch was introduced by the Aloha Serenaders, whose renderings of Hawaiian selections, in both sections of the programme, were among the most popular items on the programme.

Other interesting numbers were songs by Miss Elsa D. Alves, violin solos by Professor Gonzalez, and a saxophone solo by Mr. Ray Remedios.

Great credit is due to Professor Gonzalez and Mr. Gus d'Aquino, who organised the concert, and to the members of the club for their splendid support, due to which it is estimated that over $300 will be available for their valued old friend, "the old Trouper."

RECOGNITION FOR FASCISTS?

Many young Chinese believe that a Mussolini or Hitler will save China. They believe in a dictatorial Government as opposed to democracy as envisaged by orthodox Kuomintang leaders. Canton strongly opposes the "Blue Shirts" and is closely watching their activities. Their magazines published in Nanking, Hankow and Shanghai are banned here.

ity. The Nazi State would finally root out and destroy the last remains of this source of national poison and folly.

OUT OF DATE ATTITUDE

He also denounced the group of political leaders who saw their future finished by January 30, 1933, but who had not resigned themselves to it, and the revolutionaries who wanted to make a revolution a permanent condition. He said that many of the latter had fought for the Nazis, but had later failed to realize that their lawless attitude was out of date.

Chancellor Hitler declared that he had pointed out the impracticalities to Captain Roehm, late Chief of the Brown Shirt Army who was summarily shot in his cell during the recent revolt, without perceptible results, and the complaints increased.

"NEW REVOLUTION NECESSITY"

"I received communications about the conversation of the higher storm Troop leaders referring to the necessity for a new revolution," he said. "Captain Roehm tried to deny all the occurrences and said that they disguised attacks against the Storm Troops."

"Witnesses who swore to the allegations were mishandled and it became clear that a group of high leaders was continuously working to estrange the Storm Troops from the Party and that Captain Roehm was busy with ambitious plans."

ROEHM'S IMMORAL LIFE

Chancellor Hitler referred to his reluctance to believe that his relationship with Captain Roehm was founded on lies, and to his desire to spare the movement and the shame of the revelation.

He described how the immoral life of Captain Roehm had spread. Unknown to him, Captain Roehm used as an intermediary a thoroughly corrupt swindler, to whom the Chancellor referred as "Herr von A." who had formed a connection with General von Schleicher, who drew up a statement declaring that the present regime could not be continued.

The Army, Navy and all national organisations must be combined under one hand namely, Captain Roehm, while the Vice-Chancellor, Captain von Papen, must be removed and replaced by "Herr von A." Chancellor Hitler remaining, at any rate, temporarily, was the plan.

Chancellor Hitler said, that he offered unyielding opposition to the scheme.

REVOLT PREPARATIONS

The Chancellor described the preparations for the revolt, and said that propaganda was carried on alleging that the Reichswehr proposed to dissolve the Storm Troops. Captain Roehm, on the pretext of social relief, had collected millions of marks, and that terrorist groups had been formed, composed of hardened criminals.

Chancellor Hitler, at the beginning of June, made his last attempt. He summoned Captain Roehm, who assured him that the rumours were exaggerated and untrue. He pledged that he would see that matters were rectified, but the result was that Captain Roehm now prepared for the removal of Chancellor Hitler.

HITLER CHEERED BY CROWD

Stringent Precaution Against Incidents.

ARMED BODYGUARD

Berlin, Yesterday.

Chancellor Hitler returned yesterday afternoon from Berchtesgaden, where he was recuperating in readiness for his momentous speech to the Reichstag, which met in the Kroll Opera House.

Stringent precautions were taken to prevent any incidents. Police guarded the entrances to the Opera House throughout the day. The Chancellor was escorted by an armed bodyguard, while scores of picked black uniformed guards were distributed throughout the building.

"I BEAT DOWN REVOLUTION"
Enormous crowds outside the Opera House here thunderously cheered the arrival of Chancellor Hitler. The building was packed with people.

The 660 Deputies, in uniforms of black and brown, rose with raised arms and shouted "Heil" thrice as the Chancellor entered.

Bursts of overwhelming applause punctuated the Chancellor's speech, especially his declaration, "I beat down the revolution before it had time to spring up."—Reuter.

The majority of the leaders were informed that Chancellor Hitler had agreed to the plan, but wished to be in custody for a day or so with a view to escaping the effect of the revolt on foreign relations.

"Meanwhile, the man was already brought who was to remove me. Later, the Standard Leader, Herr Uhl, confessed before his death his willingness to carry out this order," the Chancellor declared.

DIRECT ACTION DECIDED

He continued that the plan for revolt during the Storm Troops' absence was abandoned when it was found that Chancellor Hitler would not co-operate, and direct action was decided on, beginning with an attack against the Government and Chancellor Hitler's arrest, so that further action could appear to be under his orders.

Chancellor Roehm, Herr Ernst, and others declared before witnesses that the bloodiest prolonged fight was to take place.

The seriousness of the situation was first apparent from messages from abroad. British and French newspapers increasingly referred to the imminent revolution.

Chancellor Hitler decided to prevent the shedding of blood of tens of thousands and to arrest Captain Roehm and others.

He received urgent reports at 1 a.m. on June 30 that an attack on the Government buildings was to begin, and the Storm Troops were called out at Munich.

PLOT NIPPED IN BUD
He realised that he must act like lightning to prevent disaster. Only ruthless and bloody intervention could prevent the revolution spreading. It was better that a hundred mutineers and conspirators be destroyed than that tens of thousands of innocent victims bleed to death.

After Chancellor Hitler's speech, the Reichstag approved it unanimously with acclamation for the Government's action in dealing with the rebels.

The Chamber thanked Chancellor Hitler.—Reuter.

As he dismounted at the side door he caught a fleeting glimpse of a gaunt, elderly woman peering at him from behind the curtain of an upper window. Evidently this was his aunt by adoption.

Over the ample mid-day meal that stood in readiness for him Stoner was able to review the possibilities of his extraordinary situation. The real Tom, after four years of absence, might suddenly turn up at the farm, or a letter might come from him at any moment. Again, in the character of heir to the farm, the false Tom might be called on to sign documents, which would be an embarrassing predicament.

On the other hand, the alternative was the open sky and the muddy lanes that led down to the sea.

"Will you have cold pork for your supper," asked the hard-faced maid, as she cleared the table, "or will you have it hot?"

"Hot, with onions," said Stoner. It was the only time in his life that he made a rapid decision. And as he gave the order he knew that he meant to say.

Stoner kept rigidly to those portions of the house which seemed to have been allotted to him by a tacit treaty of delimitation. When he took part in the farm-work it was as one who worked under orders and never initiated them. Old George, the roan cob, and Bowker's pup were his sole companions in a world that was otherwise frostily silent and hostile.

Of the mistress of the farm he saw nothing. Once, when he knew she had gone forth to church, he made a furtive visit to the farm parlour in an endeavour to glean some fragmentary knowledge of the young man whose place he had usurped, and whose ill-repute he had fastened on himself. There were many photographs hung on the walls, or stuck in prim frames, but the likeness he sought for was not among them.

At last, in an album thrust out of sight, he came across what he wanted. There was a whole series, labelled "Tom," a podgy child of three, in a fantastic frock, an awkward boy of about twelve, holding a cricket bat as though he loathed it, a rather good-looking youth of eighteen, with very smooth, evenly-parted hair, and, finally, a young man with a somewhat surly dare-devil expression. At this last portrait Stoner looked with particular interest; the likeness to himself was unmistakable.

From the lips of old George, who was garrulous enough on most subjects, he tried again and again to learn something of the nature of the offence which shut him off as a creature to be shunned and hated by his fellow-men.

"What do the folk around here say about me?" he asked one day as they were walking home from an outlying field.

The old man shook his head. "They be bitter agen you, mortal bitter. Ay, 'tis a sad business, a sad business."

And never could he be got to say anything more enlightening.

On a clear frosty evening, a few days before the festival of Christmas, Stoner stood in a corner of the orchard which commanded a wide view of the countryside. Here and there he could see the twinkling dots of lamp or candle glow which told of human homes where the goodwill and jollity of the season held their way.

As he turned to look at the long grey front of the gloom-shadowed building, a door opened and old George came hurriedly forth. Stoner heard his adopted name called in a tone of strained anxiety. Instantly he knew that something untoward had happened, and with a quick revulsion of outlook his sanctuary became in his eyes a place of peace and contentment, from which he dreaded to be driven.

"Master Tom," said the old man in a hoarse whisper, "you must slip away quiet from here for a few days. Michael Ley is back in the village, an' he swears to shoot you if he can come across you. He'll do it, too; there's murder in the look of him. Get away under cover of night. 'Tis only for a week or so—he won't be here longer."

"But where am I to go?" stammered Stoner.

"Go right away along the coast to Punchford and keep hid there. When Michael's safe gone I'll ride the roan over to the Green Dragon at Punchford; when you see the cob stabled at the Green Dragon 'tis a sign you may come back agen."

"But—" began Stoner hesitatingly.

"'Tis all right for money," said the other; "the old Missus agrees you'd best do as I say, and she's given me this."

The old man produced three sovereigns.

Stoner felt more of a cheat than ever as he stole away that night from the back gate of the farm with the old woman's money in his pocket. Old George and Bowker's pup stood watching him a silent farewell from the yard. He could scarcely fancy that he would ever come back, and he felt a throb of compunction for those two humble friends who would wait wistfully

CAR OF BATTERY ESSENTIAL.

Over-Charging Ruins Big Number.

Many motorists imagine that the dynamo should be charging whenever possible—often it is kept working during a two hundred miles run by daylight.

Probably more batteries are ruined by over-charging than by under-charging. If charging is continued when the batteries are already full, the surplus current is disposed of by an increase of the temperature of the electrolyte, causing evaporation of the water, and by the generation of a gas which rises in bubbles from the positive plates.

Each of these bubbles carries with it a minute particle of the plate, and although this disintegration is slow, its effects will be eventually deleterious.

CAR DESIGN LESS CONSERVATIVE.

Streamlines Receiving Great Attention.

It is apparent, from new chassis, that manufacturers of repute are adopting a less conservative attitude in matters of design than has hitherto been displayed by the automobile industry in general, although there have, of course, always been a few exceptions who have not hesitated to depart from the orthodox if advantage could be obtained by so doing.

Other manufacturers, also, are known to be experimenting with independent suspension, and with improved transmission systems, while streamlined body designs are receiving a considerable amount of attention, so that it may well be that we are approaching a period of very marked development in technical matters.

HAND SIGNALLING DEFENDED.

Suitable Gloves Are Necessary.

It is still held by some that signals given by hand are more effective than the modern direction indicators. There is no doubt that a white covering on the driving glove is distinctly seen.

A suitable covering of this description can easily be knitted by a feminine member of the household with thin white cotton, so as to be a close fit over the glove.

Such a mitt is never in the way, and there is nothing to get caught on any part of the car when in use, as with certain kinds held in place with loops, and so forth.—"The Autocar."

NEW FORD V-8 CARS & TRUCKS

Built For Endurance.

New Ford V-8 trucks and commercial cars, powered with the 80 horse power Ford V-8 engines are now on display to-day at the local Ford dealer's showrooms.

New full-floating rear axle, improvements in the special type V-8 truck engine and newly designed front end are among the features of the 1934 Ford V-8 truck. Rear springs are of the double-shock semi-elliptic type. A wide range of body types, from the pickup and station wagon on the commercial chassis through the various panel deliveries and stake bodies to the heavy duty express and dump trucks, is provided to meet the widest variety of commercial hauling requirements.

Designed for Heavy Work

From the standpoint the new Ford V-8 truck is designed to meet the widely varying conditions of truck service, including the severe demands of heavy duty and high speed operations. Every part, according to the engineers who designed it, is full truck-size, there having been no compromise between truck and passenger car requirements in its construction.

The 80 horse power V-8 truck engine with heavy-duty bearing inserts, large size clutch and transmission, heavy driving gears, together with the torque tube and radius rod drive permit utilization of the engine's full power without undue strain on any part of the driving mechanism or chassis. Unusually large braking areas and specially designed drums of the mechanical braking system provide maximum braking safety.

Compact Engine

The new Ford V-8 truck engine is compact and easily serviced. It is more economical in operation, delivering a greater power output per gallon of fuel than any other Ford engine ever built. New truck-type cylinder heads with newly designed combustion chambers, combined with the new dual carburetion give more power with decreased compression.

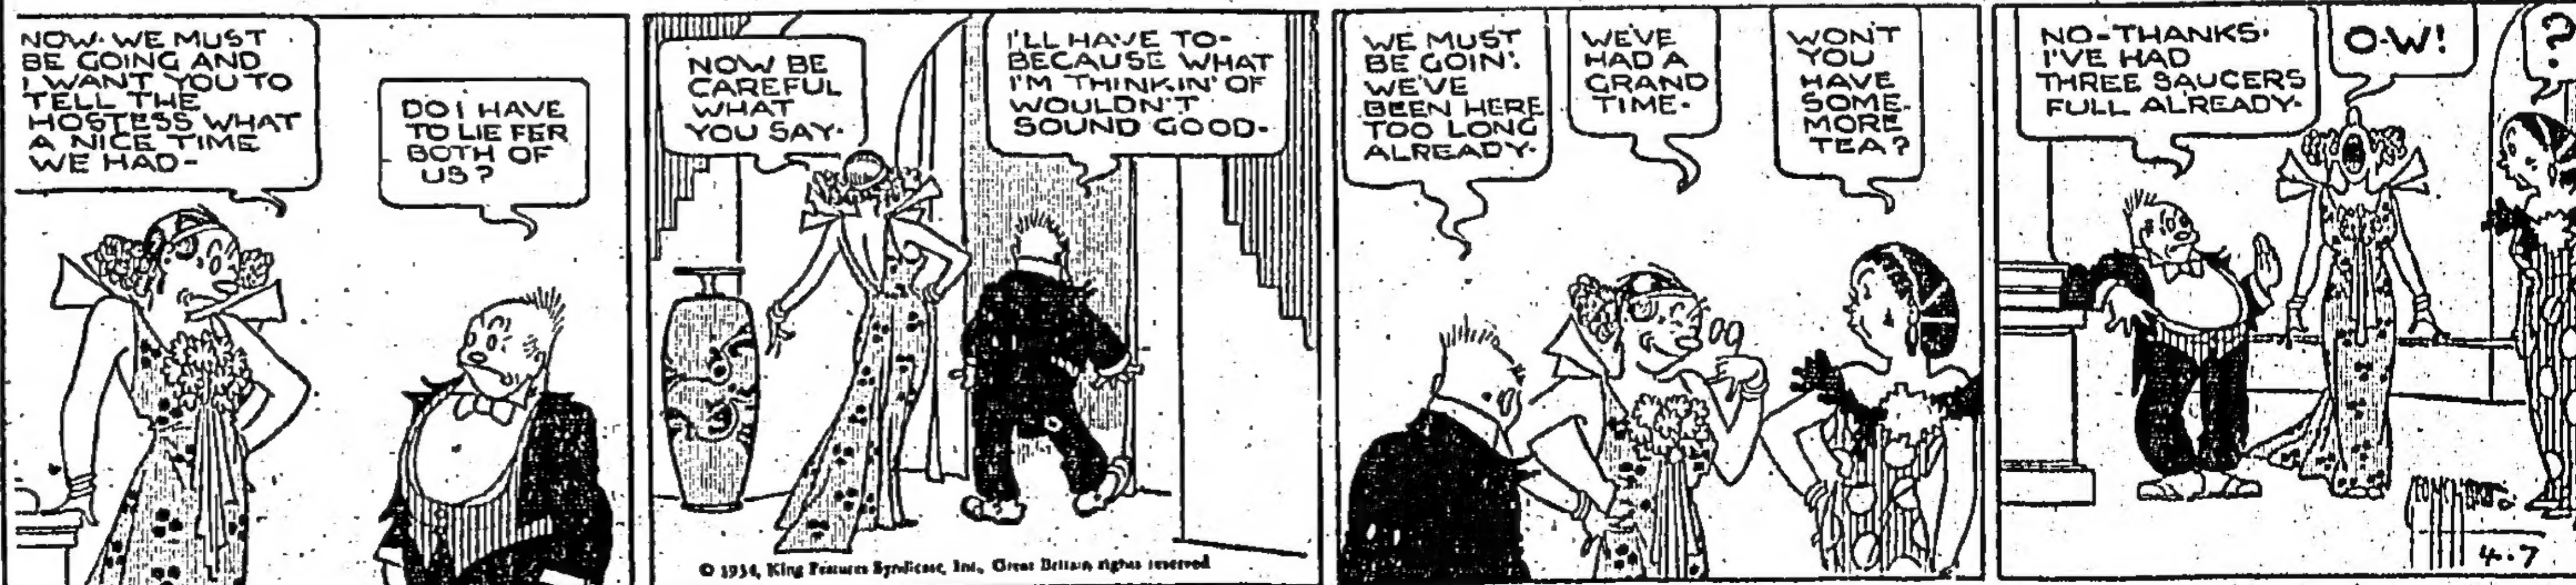

The new high lead bronze connecting rod bearings, which are the same type as those used in racing cars and airplane engines, are designed to provide the ruggedness and long life necessary for heavy-duty or high-speed service. The new heavy-duty truck crankshaft is of a cast alloy steel developed by Ford to withstand hard truck service. It has polished bearing surfaces which give more than twice the usual mileage without showing noticeable wear.

Improved Riding Comfort

The transmission provides four speeds forward. Gears in all wear and prolonging life of the units. The four forward speeds furnish the wide range of power required for all phases of truck operation, from pulling heavy loads against poor traction conditions to high-speed service on paved highways.

Because of the use of the torque tube and radius rod drive, which carry all driving and braking forces direct to the frame, the springs have only one duty to perform—that of absorbing road shocks and cushioning the load. This permits the semi-elliptic rear springs to be freely-shockled at both ends, providing improved riding comfort and protecting fragile loads.

HARD LUCK, PARTNER!

(By LADY RHODES)

I HAVE been gently taken to task by a correspondent for saying that a contract should be made "with reasonable luck." She appears to think that if the bidding is accurate enough, the result should be almost a certainty.

But this view ignores one important fact: the declarer and her partner, however skilled their bidding may be, are only accounting for half the pack. The remaining 26 cards belong to the opponents and, though much more often than not they will be divided in something like a reasonable manner, they can, and sometimes do, lie so unfavourably for the declarer as to make the contract impossible.

Here is an example which happened the other day: North and South were vulnerable. North dealt, and opened with One Heart on

SA Q 5	DK 9 3
HA 7 6 5 2	CK 7
South with
SK 8 4 3	D 7 5 4
HK 10 8 4	C 6 2

raised her to two, and North then bid four.

The opponents' hands were:

East	West
S J 6 2	S 10 9 7
H 3	H Q J 9
DA Q 8 6	D J 10 2
C J 10 9 8 7	CA 5 4 3

East opened with the Knave of Clubs. West won the trick with the Ace, and returned the Knave of Diamonds. North was thus two down, losing three Diamonds, one Club, and one Heart. This result was due entirely to an unlucky distribution of the opponents' cards. South's rals was quite sound, and North, with her five-card trump suit and four Honour tricks, was well justified in trying for the game.

If West, instead of East, had held the Ace of Diamonds, South could have got her contract by playing out the Ace and King of Hearts and discarding one Diamond on dummy's 13th Spade. If the opponent's Hearts had been equally divided, she could have also got her contract by discarding one Diamond on the 13th Spade and thus losing only two Diamonds and a Club.

Not all players realise that it is impossible to win at contract without going down fairly often. If two partners' bidding is so conservative that they can get their contract against any unfavourable distribution, they will miss game after game when the opposing cards lie reasonably well.

No-Trump contracts sometimes fail owing to duplication of values in the two hands. There is more than enough strength in three suits and both partners are unprotected in the fourth. Here is a case in point:

North bids One No-Trump on

SA J 3	DK Q 7
HK 10 4 2	C J 8 7

Hounds Of Fate

for his return. Some day perhaps the real Tom would come back, and there would be wild wonderment among those simple farm folks as to the identity of the shadowy guest they had harboured under their roof.

Fortune had done him a whimsically kind turn when last he trod these lanes as a hopeless adventurer, and there might yet be a chance of his finding some work and making a fresh start; as he got further from the farm his spirits rose higher. There was a sense of relief in regaining once more his lost identity and ceasing to be the uneasy ghost of another. He scarcely bothered to speculate about the implacable enemy who had dropped from nowhere into his life.

Then there stepped out from the shadow of an overhanging oak tree a man with a gun. There was no need to wonder who he might be; the moonlight falling on his white set face revealed a glare of human hate such as Stoner in the ups and downs of his wanderings had never seen before. He sprang aside in a wild effort to break through the hedge that bordered the lane, but the tough branches held him fast. The hounds of Fate had waited for him in those narrow lanes, and this time they were not to be denied.

From "The Complete Short Stories of 'Saki'" (H. H. Munro) (John Lane the Bodley Head).

Her partner, with

SA Q 7	DA J 6 5
HK 7 5	C 10 6 3

raises her to game. The contract may be defeated, as there is no guard in Clubs. But the situation is not as bad as it looks at first sight. If the seven missing Clubs are divided 4 and 3, the game is certain. If they are unequally divided, West may hold the length, in which case the suit will probably not be opened and the declarer will proceed to take nine tricks in the other three suits. Occasionally there will be a crash: East will hold a long set-up suit of Clubs and double the bid. But, on the whole, the hand is a good proposition in Three No-Trumps; there is no game in a suit call, however the cards lie.

This duplication of values sometimes happens with a suit call.

For instance,

North	South
SA K J 3	S Q 8 6 2
HA Q 5 4	H J 8 7 6
D 10 3	D 7 6
CK 6 4	CA 9 3

The bidding goes:

North one Spade
South two Spades
North three Hearts
South four Spades

(three Spades would be merely a preference bid). Here there are two Clubs and one Diamond to lose, and the contract cannot be made unless West holds King and one Heart only.

If, however, North's hand had been

SA K J 3	D 10 6 8
HA Q 5 4	CK 7

the bidding would have been the same, but the contract is now certain unless the distribution is unduly bad. In this case South's double-ton, which she had reckoned as an asset, produces a trick because the hand can ruff a diamond.

1,400 MISTAKES IN THE BIBLE

Eminent Orientalist's Discovery.

FAMOUS PASSAGES
CHALLENGED

Paris.

Fourteen hundred mistakes or words with wrong meanings have been discovered in the bible by the eminent Orientalist Doctor Georges Lomsa, according to "L'ordre."

The most important is that concerning the last words of Christ before his death on the cross, "Eli, Eli, Lama Sabachthani," hitherto translated as "My God, My God, Why Hast Thou Forsaken Me." The real translation, according to the doctor, should be "My God, My God, My Destiny Is Accomplished."

In the famous passage "It is easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of heaven," Doctor Lomsa maintains that the word "Camel" should be replaced by the word "Rope," which, says "L'ordre," "is certainly less surprising."—Reuter.

MELBOURNE GARDENS PRAISED

Sir Conan Doyle's Impression.

Melbourne is famed for its splendid public parks and gardens and for its beautiful tree-lined boulevards, so that the recorded impressions of the late Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, after visiting Melbourne, merely express the feelings of countless other visitors.

In one of his books he wrote: "I spend such spare time as I have in the Melbourne Botanical Gardens, which is, I think, absolutely the most beautiful place that I have ever seen. I do not know what genius laid them out, but the effort is a succession of the most lovely visits, where flowers, shrubs, large trees and stretches of water, are combined in an extraordinary harmony. Green swards slope down to many tinted groves, and they in turn droop over still ponds mottled with lovely water plants. It is an instructive as well as a beautiful place, for every tree has its visiting card attached and one soon comes to know them."

Interesting

THE BLANKETED
NIGHT SKY.

Does light come right round again if it does not hit up against some matter?

The present theory of the limited universe allows that light may go right round, and we may see among the stars light that may have gone right round.

We cannot, however, be sure. Space is now supposed to have dense banks of dust cloud in it. Some astronomers think as much as a quarter of the night sky we see is so blanketed, so the chance of a beam of light not being caught and suffocated sooner or later is very slight.

JUNK PIRATED IN CANTON RIVER

Master's Son Believed Shot In Fight.

POLICE SEARCH

Chan Liu, 41-year-old master and owner of an unlicensed junk, made a report to the Police yesterday morning that his junk had been pirated and that he believed his son had been shot dead.

He stated that at 1 a.m. yesterday his junk was lying in the Canton River, north of Chak Wan, which is in Chinese territory, and near the entrance to Ship Bay, on her voyage from Bocca Tigris to Hong Kong, when a small fishing boat, coming from Tung Chung canal alongside and eight men jumped aboard his junk. Three were armed with revolvers, and during the fight which followed, shots were fired, and he believes that his son, Chan Pau, 21 years old, was hit.

Chan Liu stated that he jumped into the water and swam away. When he stopped swimming he saw his junk, with his wife, daughter-in-law, grandson, and four foks aboard, sailing off in the direction of Macao.

There was a cargo of lily-roots, valued at $400, and also $40 in Hong Kong and Chinese currency on board.

All the pirates were dressed in black cotton clothing and were between the ages of 30 and 45 years. A search for the junk is now being conducted.

RETRENCHMENT IN KWANGTUNG.

Government Employees

Canton, Yesterday. The Provincial Government has issued an Ordinance to the various county and city governments urging them to enforce the policy of retrenchment and abolition of old customs which was adopted by the Southwest Political Council some time ago.

In the Ordinance it is stated that government employees must take the lead in the campaign.—Central Press.

BUSINESS SCHOOL IN CANTON.

Scheme For Training
Commercial Men.

Canton, Yesterday. With a view to increasing the commercial knowledge of the business men and promoting trade, the City Chamber of Commerce is planning to establish a commercial school in the city especially for the business men here.

Regulations governing the organization of the school are being formulated. It is expected that they will be published at the end of next month.—Central Press.

TRAM EXTENSION NECESSITY

Sir Elly Kadoorie's Approval.

PUBLIC SUPPORT PROJECT

The campaign for the extension of the Peak Tramway to Queen's Road featured last week by the China Mail, in connection with the 90th anniversary of the oldest established newspaper in the Far East, has definitely proved that considerable public sentiment is in favour of the scheme.

The wide support given to the agitation by many well-known and prominent residents, culminating in the cable support of Sir Elly Kadoorie, the largest shareholder in the Company, shows the urgent need for such an extension.

Although many schemes have been suggested in the columns of the China Mail during the past week, none, except Mr. Felix A. Joseph's escalator or simple conveyor project, can be put into operation until the permission of the Military and the Government authorities for the acquisition of more land is obtained, but it is widely hoped that an extension, in any form, will now be brought to a successful conclusion.

CHECKING UP ON OFFICIALS.

Government Exams To Start In Canton.

Canton, Yesterday. At the first meeting of the Government Employee Examination Committee, which was formed by the Provincial Government for examining the qualifications of its officials, a decision was reached that the examinations will be carried out in three stages. The first stage will begin at the end of this month.—Central Press.

DRAMA OF GREAT WAR REVEALED: FATHER'S FIGHT TO CLEAR DEAD SON'S NAME ACCUSED OF SURRENDERING

LONDON, JULY 11.
ON OCTOBER 11, 1914, NEAR ROYE, ON THE SOMME, SECOND-LIEUTENANT CHAPELANT (23), UNABLE TO STAND OWING TO SERIOUS WOUNDS IN BOTH LEGS WAS TIED TO A STRETCHER, PROPPED UPRIGHT AGAINST A TREE, AND SHOT "FOR SURRENDERING TO THE ENEMY."

It was Private Sabatier, one of his men, who acting under orders, tied the young Lieutenant to the stretcher. When he had secured the last knot, private and lieutenant, forgetting military discipline in the face of death, shook hands.

"I am innocent," the Lieutenant said. "One day my innocence will be established."

For 20 years (says Reuter from Paris) Chapelant's aged father has travelled the length and breadth of France, tracing the witnesses of the circumstances in which his son was charged with surrender to the enemy.

HIS LONG PILGRIMAGE IS NEARLY ENDED. THIS WEEK WITNESSES WILL REPEAT THE FOLLOWING EVIDENCE, WHICH THE DEAD MAN'S FATHER HAS COLLECTED IN WRITING BEFORE THE WAR COURTS-MARTIAL APPEAL COURT, WHICH WILL BE ASKED TO REVERSE THE WARTIME VERDICT:—

"NO SURRENDER."

At dawn on October 7, 1914, a German attack in mass formation was flung against the 98th Infantry Regiment. Lieutenant Chapelant was in command of two machine-guns. One was early put out of action. The companies on either side of the machine-guns were driven back. Here is the evidence of the first witness, Private Gardet:—

"There were four men of Chapelant's section left alive. Seeing themselves surrounded, they began lance, 'blow your brains out to show that you have some courage left!'

"I have no reason to blow out my brains," replied Chapelant quietly, 'I did my duty.'"

EXAMPLE NECESSARY

Another witness, M. Rochard, clerk of the Court-martial, states:—"It was insisted at the Court-martial that it was necessary to make an example."

Chapelant was convicted. His Commanding Officer appealed to the Higher Command. This was the written reply, which will be produced in Court, that he received:—"I understand your scruples, but we are all under the law. . . . You will find means with the aid of your doctor to make this unfortunate man stand up to be shot."

SCENE AT EXECUTION.

Doctor Gulchard, who witnessed the execution, states:—"The scene will remain for me, as for all who saw it, one of the most painful of the war. The officer in charge, revolver in hand, walked excitedly round shouting insults at the motionless man lying on his stretcher. Twice he refused him the consolation of the chaplain. He offered him instead, his revolver to blow out his own brains."

The witness Sabatier concludes the story:—"I tied him to the stretcher. It was set upright. We shook hands. The Chaplain Lestrade gave him the cross of Christ to kiss."

So Second-Lieutenant Chapelant met his death. His body was flung into a ditch and his last resting-place is unknown.

"My heart has been too full all these years to shed tears," M. Chapelant, son, said to the barrister who will plead for him. "I shall be able to weep at length when my son's memory has been cleared."

(By Telegraph. Copyright. Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received July 14, 8.47 a.m.)

New York, Yesterday.

Messrs. Dun and Bradstreet, in their weekly review, state that a more definite market advance is being established.

Current developments appear to be fostering preparations for a more genuine and lasting recovery than has been attained in the past 15 months. "While more interest is centred in trade movements than in speculations regarding Government action," Conservative sentiment is increasing, particularly regarding long-term calculations, as the possibility of inflation looms, unless private business succeeds in giving a more decisive impetus to employment and to the consumers' income, they state.—United Press, per S. E. Levy and Company.
